Ask Increased Fund for Army

Group Seeks Total Force Of 1,399,441

Washington—(AP)—The house appropriations committee recommended today that congress vote an additional $1,469,993,636 in cash and contract authorizations to bring the nation's army to 1,399,441 men by next July.

The committee approved a bill which would increase the session's total appropriations and contractual authorizations for the armed services to a peacetime record of $12,136,832,518. This did not include approximately $4,700,000,000 authorized for a "two ocean navy" program.

An item of $1,062,976,496 to feed, clothe, equip, pay and otherwise provide for national guardsmen, reserve officers and draftees was in addition to $338,263,902 appropriated early in the week for barracks and other housing needs.

Plane-Building Goal

The bill included $165,000,000 of appropriation and $150,000,000 of contractual authority for expediting production of airplanes, the goal for which was said to be 36,000 a year by 1942.

Other major items included $107,445,499 for purchase of 78,015 motor vehicles; $24,825,108 for administration of the draft; $36,000,000 for anti-craft batteries for auxiliary naval vessels now being acquired; $10,000,000 for a graving drydock at New York city; $5,000,000 for a naval supply depot at Bayonne, N. J.; and $36,444,640 to supplement the 12,000 pilot training program.

The committee said that if the appropriation bill won approval, the war department planned to bring into the service during the remainder of the current fiscal year a total of 1,024,441 men in addition to a force of 375,000 army regulars previously appropriated for.

Equipment Planned

The army, it was disclosed today, plans to have clothing and personal equipment for 1,400,000 men by next June 30.

Major-General Edmund B. Gregory, quartermaster general, made the statement at an executive house appropriations subcommittee hearing, the record of which was made public today in connection with introduction of big new defense appropriation bill.

Gregory asserted that $165,762,003 asked for the army in the bill for this purpose would—when added to other funds already appropriated—provide for a force of that size. Congressional approval of the sum, he said, would provide the army with $468,630,937 for soldier's clothing and such gear as packs, mess kits, etc.

Gregory's statement was considered significant because of congressional discussion as to whether the army would have supplies for the new army, made up of an expanded regular force, national guardsmen and draftees.

$100 Per Soldier

The quartermaster general also told the subcommittee that it costs $100 to equip a new soldier with the shoes, breeches and other clothing and gear needed for him to begin his service.

Funds appropriated and requested, he asserted, would provide this for a 1,400,000 man army and also a reserve supply for replacements.

The subcommittee's hearings also disclosed that the army expected to have 20,000 airplane pilots by June 30, 1942. Brigadier General Jacob E. Fickel, chief of the air corps' training and operations division, gave this estimate, indicating a step up in the corps' previously announced plans for training 7,000 pilots a year starting from last July 1.

In connection with aircraft procurement, the subcommittee was informed that the army plans to spend $300,000,000 and the navy $15,000,000 for expediting aircraft production.

Additional $35,000 For Dies Committee

Washington—(AP)—The house granted $35,000 to the Dies committee today to continue its investigations of un-American activities until the end of the year. The committee previously had received $200,000 since its creation in 1938.

Record Is Seen For Enlistments

War Department Expects Army to be Ahead of Schedule

Washington—(AP)—War department officials predicted today that the record-breaking influx of recruits would give the army its immediate objective of 375,000 regulars by mid-November, well ahead of schedule.

The flow of enlistments indicated a new record of 40,000 or more for September, compared with 31,960 in July and 38,611 in August. Records of 27,870 recruits already have been received this month—more than 3,000 above the total on the corresponding date last month.

As of Sept. 21, with 324,000 enlistees in service, the regular army was much the largest in American peacetime history.

Newspaper advertising, employed for the first time on a large scale, and specially built mobile recruiting stations have contributed materially to the enlistment drive, officials said.

The imminence of conscription was not given the major credit for the recent heavy number of enlistments.

Officials also cited the fact that the recruits were signing up for the army's regular three year term, whereas draft trainees or those who volunteer under the conscription law have only one year to serve. (The army is not yet accepting the one-year voluntary enlistments provided for in the conscription law; such applications will be handled through the draft boards after the Oct. 16 registration date.)

Few Clues in Club Slaying

Former Husband of Victim Volunteers His Help to Police

Horsham, Pa.—(AP)—Police tracked down meager clues today in the brutal slaying of Mrs. Ethel M. Atkins, 35-year-old wife of a Philadelphia bricklayer and once married to John Cicero Angier, member of the wealthy Duke family.

Angier, who married again and is now living in Baltimore, Md., came to Monksdown last night to help unravel the mystery surrounding the death of the one-time waitress whose body was found Tuesday in an abandoned farmhouse near this southeastern Pennsylvania village.

Angier, nephew of Mrs. B. N. Duke whose late husband helped found the family's tobacco fortune, conferred for more than two hours with Montgomery County District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie. The district attorney's office said he agreed to remain available in Baltimore to supply additional information.

The body of the former Ethel Craft, nude except for stockings and one slipper, was found in an unoccupied farmhouse near here crumpled on a stairway.

40-Hour Week in Effect 4 Weeks From Today

Washington—(AP)—A 40-hour work week with time and a half for overtime becomes the law of the land four weeks from today, supplanting the present 42 hour standard for all employers and employees covered by the wage-hour law. The law applies only to those engaged in interstate commerce.

The change in employment standards on Oct. 24, labor economists said, probably will have little effect on job conditions for most of the nation's workers, with the possible exception of the distributive trades and a few other lines.

Statistics indicate that most workers today are on a 40-hour week or less, the United States Bureau of Labor reporting that in July the average work week in manufacturing industries was 37.3 hours.

Exceptions to this July average included machine tools with a work week of 47.6 hours; engines with 43.7, and aircraft, 42.

Employees in defense industries working on government contracts are on a 40-hour week for the most part, economists report, because such work is governed by the 40-hour rule prescribed in the Walsh-Healey public contracts law.

A year ago when the wage-hour work week standard dropped from 44 to 42 hours a week, wage-hour officials reported that 2,380,000 workers would have their work week shortened by two hours.

Legionnaires Refuse to Back Neutrality Plea

Reverse Old Policy; Toledo Attorney Is National Commander

Boston—(AP)—Milo J. Warner, Toledo, Ohio, attorney, won election as national commander of the American Legion today in a landslide on the first ballot.

The contest for the most prized of all legion posts was settled quickly at the closing session of the twenty-second annual convention.

After a heated floor fight, the legionnaires shouted down an amendment favoring neutrality in all foreign affairs dealings, thus reversing an unbroken policy of the organization for the last 16 years.

On the first ballot, Raymond Fields of Guthrie, Okla., who was Warner's closest rival, conceded the election before the roll was half called and arose to move that the election be made unanimous.

Warner, a lawyer who gave up an army career because of wounds he received in France, was so nervous he was shaking as he went to the speaker's platform.

The legion departed from a precedent 21 years old, when it unanimously selected as its national chaplain, a non-cleric, Brigadier William George Gilkin of the Salvation Army. He is stationed in Dallas, Texas. During the war he served in the navy. The rules were suspended to speed his election.

The contest over a neutrality declaration was almost the only one that marked the entire convention. After a dramatic fight on the convention floor, the more than 1,400 delegates roared out a voice vote against an amendment to the legion's foreign relations resolution.

Says Courage Needed

In an appeal to insert the amendment, O. K. Armstrong of Chicago shouted that the legion had proved a "bulwark of sanity in a world gone mad with war."

"The people of America," said Alfred Kelly, department commander of Oregon, in calling for defeat of the amendment, "want courage from the American Legion, not appeasement."

At the same time the legion approved a demand that this nation prevent shipments of war materials to aggressor nations.

The foreign affairs debate preceded a floor battle over the national commandership.

As the final session opened, the legion preserved its unqualified stand for veterans, preference in civil service examinations by side tracking a resolution which would have limited the present five and ten point preference to veterans who obtained a passing grade.

The convention tabled the resolution by a vote of 889 to 520 and thus, avoided what appeared likely to be a heated floor battle.

Canadian Cruiser Seizes Nazi Ship

Ottawa—(AP)—The Canadian armed merchant cruiser Prince Robert has captured the German express cargo ship Weser off Manzanillo, Mexico, Navy Minister Angus MacDonald announced today.

(Mexican west coast waters, in which the capture apparently was made, are included in the American neutrality zone.)

In July there was an unconfirmed report that the Weser was being equipped as a raider, with paint taken aboard to camouflage her. This word came from Costa Rica after she had moved to Manzanillo.

British have suspected the Weser of supplying fuel to German submarines. She took aboard more than 100,000 gallons of Diesel oil while at Punta Arenas, Costa Rica.

Committee Won't Act on Chattanooga Speech

Washington—(AP)—The senate campaign committee decided today there was nothing in President Roosevelt's Labor day speech at Chattanooga, Tenn., which would bring it within the authority of the committee.

Chairman Gillette (D-Iowa) said the committee acted after considering a letter from Representative Joseph Martin of Massachusetts asking an inquiry into the speech on the ground that it was political.

Vice President Garner Returns to Washington

Washington—(AP)—Vice President Garner returned to the capital today after a two month stay in Texas, still silent about his future plans.

Colonel Edwin A. Halsey, secretary of the senate, was the only official to meet the train.

"I have no statement," was Garner's reply to all questions.

Garner, who twice won overwhelming victories with Roosevelt, unsuccessfully sought the presidential nomination in his own right and was supplanted as the Democratic vice presidential entry by Henry A. Wallace, the secretary of agriculture.

Berlin Awaiting Spain's Move In Support of Axis Countries

Berlin—(AP)—Furious diplomatic and political activity appeared today to foreshadow swift and broad developments in the creation of Adolf Hitler's "new order" and prosecution of the axis war against England, whose bombers during the night held the capital under its longest air alarm of the war.

The impression was growing that Spain was on the verge of indicating in some substantial measure her desire for closer relations with the axis, and a more intimate understanding with Japan—as a counterweight to possible closer British-American collaboration—seemed to be in the offing.

(Trustworthy advices received by the Associated Press in New York yesterday said a special German mission to Tokyo has been successful, and announcement of Japan's new role in the axis scheme of things—perhaps as an active ally—is expected soon. There was no confirmation in Berlin, however, that any new pact actually has been completed.)

Longest Raid Alarm

Berlin's longest air raid alarm of the war kept the capital's 4,000,000 residents and those of surrounding areas in cellars five hours last night and early today as British bombers attacked for the fourth successive night.

Informed sources said after a preliminary survey that eight apartment houses had been destroyed in Berlin during the raid, and two civilians were killed and five injured.

In counterblows, the German air force was said to have struck at Plymouth, Southend, Dungeness and Portland—the south coast naval base—where a warship and other targets were reported badly hit. Nine British planes were said to have been shot down yesterday.

The Berlin alarm came before bedtime and caught many persons on the way home, forcing them to spend the night in strange shelters.

An official statement said bombing was confined to outlying districts.

Orders Embargo On Scrap Iron

President Leaves Way Open for Exports to Hemisphere, Britain

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt today, in effect, clamped an embargo on shipments of scrap iron and steel to Japan effective Oct. 16—but left open the way for exports to nations in the western hemisphere and to Great Britain.

The action came within 24 hours after the Export-Import bank had announced a new $25,000,000 loan to China, whose stubborn resistance has been the chief obstacle to Japanese expansion in the Far East.

Secretary of State Hull said the United States had directed its international affairs in accordance with a set of principles which he said he wished could be engraved on the capital of every nation in the world.

Referring to a statement he made in July, 1937, Hull said the principles called for maintenance of peace, national and international self-restraint, faithful observance of

McKellar Raps Senator Wiley

Washington—(AP)—Shouting angrily, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) told the senate yesterday that Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) had made "false" representations about the veteran Tennessee Democrat's record during debate Tuesday.

"I use the word false because the rules of the senate prevent me from using a shorter, uglier word," McKellar said.

Wiley had said that McKellar, "who now is such an advocate of public ownership," at one time was against government ownership of Tennessee Valley power projects and was in favor of "giving Henry Ford a monopoly" at Muscle Shoals.

"I've been in the senate for 24 years now and I'm not going to let any newcomer or any other come make misrepresentations about my record," McKellar shouted.

The Wisconsin senator had quoted from senate speeches of 1922 and later years.

McKellar said Wiley's "insinuations" lacked the "slightest honesty of purpose," were "ignorant and malicious" and involved a "cowardly course, a dishonest course."

Crowds Eager to See Colored Movies of Life in Fox Valley

The opportunity to see themselves and their children and their friends in colored motion pictures apparently has a tremendous appeal to a host of people in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Kimberly, judging from the crowds at the Rio theater yesterday afternoon and evening for the first day's showing of "Life in Appleton and the Fox Valley." The picture will be shown again this afternoon and tonight. It was produced by Life Newsreels under the direction of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

It is amazing how much of life in Appleton and the Fox river valley can be compressed into a motion picture running about an hour and 15 minutes. There were pictures of literally thousands of men, women, school children and babies, "shots" illustrating beauty spots in and around Appleton, and intensely interesting views inside various industrial plants, picturing some of the more colorful processes employed.

These last pictures—the beauty spots and scenes inside industrial

Tokio—(AP)—A qualified informant said today it was expected Japan would actively support Germany if the United States should enter the European war.

He said the Japanese government finally was convinced that the United States was unalterably opposed to Japan's "legitimate" expansion in the Orient.

This source said that "strengthening" of the anti-comintern pact of Germany, Italy and Japan had become one of the main objectives of Japanese diplomacy in the last year.

Meanwhile, he indicated, a non-aggression pact with soviet Russia is not unlikely.

"Japan is and always will be opposed to communism," he said, "but this doesn't mean that a working arrangement with the Russians cannot be effected."

These sources said that last year, when a Japanese-German military alliance was under discussion, some Japanese still hoped to reach agreement with the United States, but now there seemed to be no further hope in that direction.

Authoritative quarters indicated that recent British-American talks regarding United States use of the Singapore naval base would materially accelerate a Japanese-German arrangement.

Haiphong, French Indo-China

(AP)—Two thousand Japanese troops landed this morning six miles from this port without firing a shot and without meeting French resistance after three Japanese planes had bombed a nearby railroad crossing, killing and wounding 15 natives.

The Japanese commander expressed regrets for the aerial bombing, saying it was a mistake.

The landing on the coast was in fulfillment of a Japanese-French agreement which is being put into effect despite the Japanese army's forcible entry across the Chinese border—which the French say violated the pact.

Informed quarters expressed belief that the "peaceful" entry at Haiphong would open the way to settlement of the northern border issue brought about by Japanese marching in Sunday night from the neighboring Kwangsi province of China.

The French called the overland thrust an act of force—the Japanese called it an ensuing clash with French border troops as a result of "insufficient arrangements by Indo-China authorities" under the Tokyo-Vichy accord.

A French communique last night said that French troops had withdrawn from Langson, having been encircled by "vastly superior Japanese forces."

Kidnaper Facing California Trial

Redwood City, Calif.—(AP)—The FBI turned Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich over to the state today for prosecution—and probable sentencing to life imprisonment—for the admitted kidnaping of curly-haired, three year old Marc de Tristram, Jr.

"I don't want any publicity," the recalcitrant German alien grumbled, trying to conceal his face behind his hands, when federal agents brought him out of San Francisco FBI headquarters for the 25 mile drive down the peninsula to the San Mateo county jail in Redwood City.

In his cell at the jail here he was stripped to his belt—a customary precaution taken with prisoners in case they might have a notion to kill themselves.

San Mateo county's grand jury was called to convene Friday morning to consider indicting the kidnaper.

Linked with news of the setback at Dakar was a report from Gibraltar that some 100 French warplanes had dropped more than 300 bombs on that British stronghold at the western entrance to the Mediterranean during a two and a half hour raid yesterday.

The raid, apparently in reprisal for the Dakar attack, was the second.

War Vessels Damaged in Dakar Attack

London—(AP)—Great Britain smarted with disappointment today over abandonment of the attempt to seize Dakar, key port of French West Africa, after a three-day battle in which the admiralty guardedly acknowledged that British warships had suffered damage and casualties.

To many, the incident recalled memories of British setbacks in Norway, Flanders and Somaliland, but the public was too much concerned for the moment with the battle of Britain to voice widespread criticism, and there was no indication the ill-starred venture had weakened Prime Minister Churchill's government.

Neutral diplomatic quarters characterized the withdrawal from Dakar as a "resounding diplomatic defeat" and foresaw a lessening of General Charles de Gaulle's chances of winning other parts of the French colonial empire to the side of the "free Frenchmen" still fighting with Britain.

Among diplomats of nations within the axis orbit, one declared:

"Frenchmen will not want their nation's post-war economics run by Britain or their foreign policy decided by a general strongly under British influence."

One Newspaper Critical

The press, for the most part, contented itself with publishing the government communique on the withdrawal under such headlines as "Fleet Withdrawn from Dakar—No Wish to Fight French."

The News Chronicle alone sounded a note of censure, striking out with a bold headline "De Gaulle's Expedition to Dakar Fails" and printing an article by Vernon Bartlett, independent member of parliament, storming against "delay and hesitation" and declaring "it has been decided" that Germany "must be allowed another success."

The decision to withdraw the "Free French" forces of General Charles de Gaulle and the supporting British fleet from Dakar was made, the British ministry of information said, "when it became evident that only a major operation of war could secure the fall" of the port.

The communique explained, "it has never been the intention of his majesty's government to enter into serious warlike operations against those French who felt it their duty to obey the commands of the Vichy government" and declared, "General de Gaulle himself was most anxious that he should not be the cause of bloodshed to his fellow countrymen."

Damage Not Revealed

While acknowledging that hits had been scored on British warships by French shore batteries, the communique did not specify the extent of damage or casualties.

(Reports from Vichy said damage had been inflicted on the 31,100-ton British battleship Barham, the 29,150-ton battleship Resolution and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Kent.)

The British reported, however, two of three French submarines which took part in the engagement were sunk and indicated hits had been scored on the 35,000-ton French battleship Richelieu, which the British reported they had damaged in an expedition to Dakar last July 8.

Linked with news of the setback at Dakar was a report from Gibraltar that some 100 French warplanes had dropped more than 300 bombs on that British stronghold at the western entrance to the Mediterranean during a two and a half hour raid yesterday.

The raid, apparently in reprisal for the Dakar attack, was the second.

Relief Costs During Month Period Show Decline in Wisconsin

Madison—(AP)—The general relief load in Wisconsin declined 4.6 per cent from July to August, the state public welfare department reported today.

The number of families receiving relief from the counties totaled 41,425 last month, compared with 43,420 during July.

The total cost also showed a drop from $980,035 to $897,003.

Cities in which the number of families on August relief exceeded 1,000 were Milwaukee with 18,851; Dane 1,146; Douglas 1,252; Kenosha 1,780; Racine 1,218 and Sheboygan 1,066.

Milwaukee's costs last month, $434,008, were the highest of any county in the state while Marquette, with $493, had the lowest.

Nineteen counties reported increases in the number of August cases but these were offset by reductions in other counties.

Heil's Cheese Agency Wins Farmer Support

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau — Governor Heil shortly will be presented with complete data gathered by state agricultural experts and outside consultants on the natural cheese marketing agency which he recently proposed and which the state department of agriculture has been studying at his request for several months.

Preliminary studies have been prepared showing the financial needs of the plan which contemplates a storing corporation which will buy, package, age and sell Wisconsin natural cheese to the markets of the nation and the world.

According to the governor's idea, with which state agricultural authorities appear to be in sympathy, he would undertake to obtain the capital required for the agency which would undertake to supply the "missing link" in the gigantic Wisconsin cheese production industry, a medium which could transform the bulk production of Wisconsin cheese factories into aged, small package, premium cheese to bring premium prices in retail markets now largely exploited by manufacturers of processed varieties.

According to the governor's plan, the difference between the cost of the raw material, preparation and distribution, and the market price would be returned to the farmers, after a deduction of a modest dividend for the investors who supplied the capital for the corporation.

According to the program suggested by the governor and now under consideration by the state department of agriculture which has been charged with the formulation of a concrete plan, it would work something like this:

$500,000 Capital
Either a big cooperative, or a regular corporate organization would be established, with a minimum capital of about $500,000, subscribed by public-spirited citizens enlisted by the governor, who would be pledged a return of about 4 percent on their investment.

The agency would establish a storage warehouse and packaging machinery in a heavy producing cheese center, buying cheese at the rate of one carload a week, for example, at the going rate, now around 15 cents a pound. The agency would buy cheddars or long-horns, besides varieties of Swiss cheese, and convert them into small brightly colored packages for the retail market. The new film-wrapped, patented by the state department of agriculture and markets, would be made available to the agency, and all cheese turned out would be graded, certified and stamped with Wisconsin state brands on special state-designed packages to designate grade and age.

Distribution would be to regular wholesalers or retailers, some of whom have already expressed a willingness to cooperate in the program.

According to the department's experience in its Christmas gift program of selling the natural cheese packages, a price of 30 cents a pound can be expected for aged cheese. Thus it is hoped that all distribution, interest, packaging and storage costs can be paid, leaving a substantial margin of profit which can be returned to the farmer producers.

The state board of agriculture, headed by Herman Ihde of Neenah, this week spent two days discussing the proposal, and decided to proceed cautiously and slowly in the somewhat revolutionary plan already fervently approved by Governor Heil.

Department experts, it appeared, were advised to make all their estimates of costs and returns purposely conservative in order to evaluate strictly the potentialities of the proposed program. They plan to meet with Governor Heil at an early date, it was reported. It was pointed out that one of the difficulties to be surmounted is the fact that the first year of operation of the proposed corporation would be expensive due to the necessity of storing almost all of the cheese packaged for at least six months without financial return immediately. After the product gets into the market, it was pointed out, and the corporation has cured cheese in its storage rooms, additional capital will be available at cheaper rates.

ENLISTMENT RUSH SWAMPS ARMY—Here are some of the 700 youths who wanted to enlist at the army recruiting office in New York in one day—but couldn't. The crowd swamped the place, so most of them were asked to return later. Meanwhile, in Washington, it was indicated that voluntary army enlistments were pouring in so fast that a sizable part of the first compulsory service quota of 400,000 might be filled without a draft.

Britain May Get Help If Others Join Axis

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York—(AP)—There have been few such anxious moments in the war for England as the present while she waits to learn whether Japan and Spain will add their weight to the Berlin-Rome axis in an effort to divide the British empire among the four.

Mackenzie

Adherence of either Nippon or Spain to the axis would shake Britain badly, or both would create a situation of extreme gravity.

However, should this position of four-against-one materialize, the question will arise as to whether England will have to face this storm alone or whether she may expect aid. First, we shall want to know what Russia will do, for this vast union would be a mighty factor.

The Muscovites may be credited with expecting that sooner or later (probably sooner) they must fight both Germany and Japan. And when all is said and done, Russia and Britain in most respects would be natural allies against this ambitious quartet of self-appointed cartographers who would remap a goodly portion of the globe.

Turkey Sits Tight
Then where will Turkey stand? This most powerful of the Balkan States, leader not only in the Balkans but among near eastern countries and guardian of the vastly important Dardanelles, is England's good friend, but has been sitting tight thus far—in large part because of Russian pressure.

Another big "if" is the great Moslem world which might follow the lead of Egypt—thus far England's ally.

There might be other sources of aid which don't at this moment stand out. In any event, England doubtless would have hopes of substantial aid from somebody or other.

It is, of course, the strength of the British resistance and counter attack which has driven Hitler to try to draw Spain and Japan into the conflict to help finish the job.

Of the two eventualities—the entrance of Spain or of Japan into the war—the Spanish possibility seems to me to present the greater immediate danger to Britain.

Chief Purpose
Hitler's chief purpose in bringing in Spain would be to secure bases for operations against Gibraltar with the idea of smashing British control over the western Mediterranean and the gateway into the Atlantic.

This threat would be doubly strong in view of Britain's astonishing abandonment of the siege of Dakar, French West Africa, in support of General de Gaulle, leader of Frenchmen still fighting the axis.

Lacking this strategically vital port—naval and air base capable of controlling the south Atlantic—it would be a catastrophe for Britain to lose Gibraltar.

In view of these circumstances it won't be surprising if Churchill resumes operations against Dakar if Spain adheres to the axis.

Memphis Paper Awarded Prize

Legion Gives Trophy For Best Editorial Evaluating Program

Boston—(AP)—National headquarters of the American Legion, in convention here, announced today that the Memphis, Tenn., Commercial Appeal was the 1940 winner of the Stephen F. Chadwick Editorial association trophy.

The trophy, donated by Chadwick, a former national commander of the legion, was provided to give recognition to the daily newspaper which, in its editorial columns, "best evaluates the program of the American Legion during the period from Aug. 1 to July 31 each year."

The winning editorial was written by Jack Carley, chief editorial writer, and a soldier in the Canadian and American armies during the World War. Titled "The Legion and Defense," it appeared Sept. 23, 1939.

The Daily Star-Herald of Scottsbluff, Neb., won second prize with an editorial written by H. J. Wisner on March 19, 1940, entitled "A Great Organization's Birthday."

In addition to the national awards, the judges selected winners for the best editorials in individual states including:

Battle Creek, Mich., Enquirer-News;
La Crosse, Wis., Tribune and Leader-Press.

Willkie to Air Ways of Raising Farm Incomes

Invades Midwest in Extensive Campaign Tour of Country

BY THEODORE F. KOOP

Aboard Willkie Train en route to Omaha—(AP)—Back in the midwest for a speech at Omaha tonight at 8:30 p. m. (CST) outlining his views on raising farm income, Wendell L. Willkie formulated today a heavy October campaign schedule, calling for 20 major addresses in key states.

As the Republican presidential nominee swung down through South Dakota after a two weeks' tour of the west, he arranged to devote the remainder of his drive for votes to the populous eastern half of the country.

He will speak on foreign policy in Cleveland Oct. 2, when he said he would offer further evidence criticizing President Roosevelt's handling of international problems.

Later, in the month he is expected to discuss "political bosses" in a

Missouri speech assailing the Pennington Democratic organization. Philadelphia will be among the cities where he will talk, and Republican leaders are assuming he will close his campaign in Madison Nov. 2.

Works on Speech
Willkie worked on his Omaha farm speech yesterday between rear platform appearances in eastern Montana and North Dakota. He told an audience at Dickinson, N. D.:

"I want to give to the farmer something more than just a dollar. I want to give to the farmer an expanding economy instead of a declining economy."

When Willkie reaches Omaha, he will have spoken in 16 states since leaving Chicago in the middle of September. These states have 162 electoral votes, nearly one third of the total to be cast. The nominee, telling reporters he was pleased with his eastern reception, figured that he saw 2,000,000 persons.

Willkie's first talk today was scheduled for the corn palace at Mitchell, S. D., followed by one at Sioux Falls. Afternoon engagements were at Worthington, Minn., and Sioux City, Iowa.

Clausen to Open Drive With Rally at Horicon

Horicon—(AP)—Fred H. Clausen, Republican candidate for the United States senate, will open his campaign Tuesday night with a rally here.

Earlier Tuesday Clausen plans to attend the G. O. P. platform convention at Madison.

Dr. John P. Koehler, runner-up to Clausen in the Republican senatorial primaries, has urged that all candidates be present at the rally and give Clausen their support.

The meeting will be held in the Van Brunt Memorial high school building.

"Indispensable man" is the natural sequence of coming bankruptcy and long continued economic depression," added the Republican presidential nominee.

Willkie declared he would seek to create more jobs by encouraging new industry. "Of course you can have new enterprises when government burdens them with taxes and taxes," he continued.

"I don't think you realize how precious is our freedom and how precarious is our position today," Willkie said.

"The preservation of such a precious right ought to challenge every American."

Axis Attempts to Clear Way For Attack Upon Gibraltar

Events shaped rapidly today toward the entry of Spain into the war on the side of the Rome-Berlin axis, apparently to permit an attack on Britain's great rock citadel at Gibraltar by German troops passing through Spain.

Berlin reported that inclusion of Japan in the globe girdling axis program also appeared to be in the offing—as a counter to possible closer British-American collaboration against Britain's lone stand.

In Tokyo, a qualified informant said it was expected that Japan would actively support Germany if the United States entered the European war.

This informant said the Japanese government now was convinced that the United States is unalterably opposed to Japan's "legitimate" expansion in the Far East. He also declared that a non-aggression pact between Japan and Soviet Russia was not unlikely.

The fascist press spoke openly of Spain's present role of "pre-belligerence" as Italy's Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano left for Berlin to conclude diplomatic negotiations bearing on the reported "collaboration of Spain and the axis powers."

Informed quarters in Rome pointed out that the fall of Gibraltar, which guards the west gate of the Mediterranean sea, would enable German troops to cross the narrow strait of Gibraltar to North Africa—thus facilitating the axis powers' program of breaking England's hold on the dark continent.

Other developments in the international picture broke swiftly:

1. Great Britain, smarting under the withdrawal from Dakar after a 3-day naval siege of the French West Africa capital, sent her bombers against Berlin in the longest raid of the war on the German capital.

2. Authorized French quarters in Vichy said heavy damage inflicted on the British naval squadron at Dakar made it impossible for the British to continue the attack without reinforcement from fleet units needed elsewhere. The French admiralty reported three British warships were hit at Dakar—the 29-150-ton battleship Resolution, the 31,000-ton battleship Barham, and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Kent. In addition, the 32,000-ton battle cruiser Renown was reported badly damaged by a direct bomb hit during a French air raid on Gibraltar.

3. R. A. F. bombers pounded German "invasion ports" along the channel for 3 hours and 45 minutes, setting great fires stretching from Boulogne to Dunkerque.

4. The British air ministry reported R. A. F. raiders scored hits on Berlin's big Tempelhof air-drome, a munitions factory, a railway yard and important power stations. (Berlin acknowledged five killed, five wounded in British raids over Germany.)

5. London's millions emerged from underground shelters after the nineteenth consecutive dusk-to-dawn assault. Fires were started in many parts of the London area, but the authoritative British Press association said an intense "flaming onion" barrage by anti-aircraft guns had kept the nazi raiders away from the heart of the capital.

6. Hitler's high command reported that waves of nazi warplanes "effectively bombed" British warships anchored near Plymouth as well as military barracks near Dungeness. Other attacks were directed at Portland, Southampton, an airplane factory at Filton, and London's port facilities on both sides of the Thames.

Brazil sent 3,100 pounds of sugar to the British Red Cross for use in hospitals.

'Y' Boys Department Second Home to 1,500 City Youths

About 1,500 Appleton boys each year participate in activities of the boys department of the Appleton Y. M. C. A., under the direction of C. C. Bailey.

Besides the physical activities, the boys department offers an extensive social program for the benefit of the city's youth.

Clubs are an important part of the program. A roster of the organized groups that meet at the "Y" reads like this:

One Midget club for boys 8 to 10 years of age.

Four Friendly Indian clubs for boys 10 to 12 years old.

One Junior Hi-Y club for junior high school students. This season two more will be organized.

Three Sophomore Triangle clubs for high school sophomores.

Six Hi-Y clubs for juniors and seniors in high school.

Six additional Pioneer clubs for boys 12 to 15 years of age will be organized this year.

For young men from 18 to 21 years of age, the "Y" has during the last two years sponsored the Phalanx club whose objects are "social, educational, and recreational." During the last year, the Phalanx club members toured Appleton industries and on weekends have made junkies to lakes, state parks, a museum in Milwaukee and the like.

Airplane Club—First aid and model airplane clubs were among other boys department units last year.

During the fall season, hikes are held. After school, boys meet at the city parks, cook supper in the open, play games, return to the building for a swim and are back home by 8 o'clock in the evening.

For youngsters under 15, the "Y" has organized the "Knothole Gang." They go together to athletic contests in the city. As many as 500 boys and girls have attended athletic events in a group.

Hi-Y dances are held in the "Y" gymnasium after football and basketball games. Music is by phonograph. Chaperones from the staff and from lists of parents are invited.

During the Christmas season, the boys department is the distributing agency for toys which go to the city's needy children.

About 1,500 toys were distributed last Christmas to 900 children. Seventy-five boys, most of them Hi-Y members, collected, repaired, and distributed the toys.

What is perhaps most important is the fact that the boys department offers a "club" for the city's youngest men. Here, at leisure times, they may play billiards, ping-pong and other games and enjoy fellowship.

Here, they may come for counsel. It is not infrequently that boys needing advice come to "C. C." and his staff for help and guidance.

Keefe Promises to Link Labor Board With Red Activities

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Oskosh Republican, scheduled to testify today before the Smith committee investigating the National Labor Relations board, said he intends to report alleged communistic activity among members of the NLRB.

David Saposs of the NLRB, formerly of Madison and Milwaukee, has told Keefe in private conversations, the congressman says, not only of "infiltration and control by communists of certain labor organizations operating positions in strategic industries" but of communists in "key positions" on the board, itself.

Although Keefe asserts that Saposs has even identified by name persons whom he charges with "communistic leanings," Saposs, himself, has so far made no public commitment regarding these matters, though he has more than once testified before the house committee investigating the NLRB.

Keefe's private discussions with Saposs occurred by reason of what the congressman terms the "defiant attitude" of the labor board, he said.

Progressives May Okay New Deal, 3rd Term

See Backing for Roosevelt at 1-Day Platform Meeting

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison—The Progressive party's platform convention next Tuesday will express approval of the New Deal and endorse President Roosevelt's third term candidacy, it was predicted in party circles here today.

Party candidates for state office, at a conference in Madison last weekend, indicated a desire for such action, it was reliably reported today, despite the public impression given during recent months that both Senator Robert M. LaFollette, a candidate for reelection, and former Gov. Phil LaFollette, who is stumping the state in the senator's behalf, are lukewarm toward the president's candidacy.

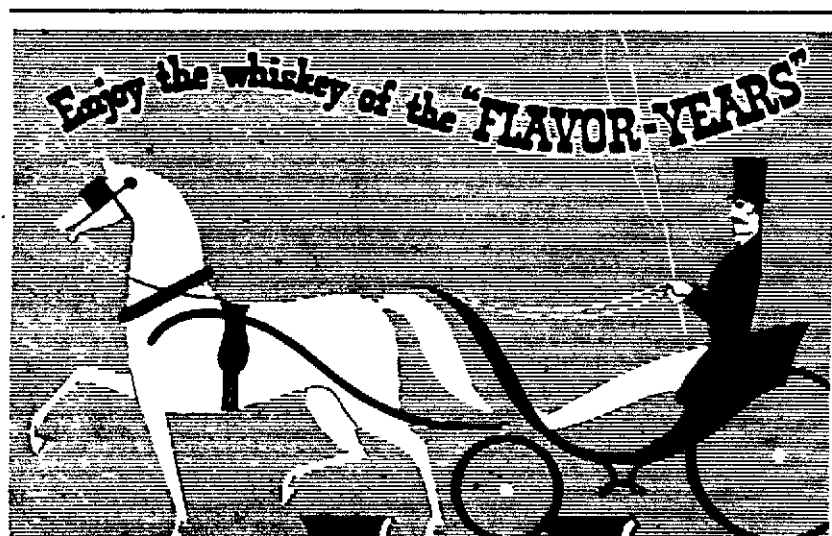

Senator LaFollette's studied absence of comment on the third term issue, party sources suggested today, has been due in large part to a desire to allow the Progressive party, as represented by its state ticket and legislative candidates, to express themselves at the platform convention.

In Awkward Spot
Secondarily, it was pointed out, LaFollette is in the somewhat awkward position of having in his public record the authorship of the anti-third term resolution in congress in 1928, when anti-third term sentiment was directed against President Calvin Coolidge.

Opinions of party spokesmen here today, however, agreed that LaFollette would join in the Progressive platform convention's action, if it endorses the New Deal, with the reservation of continued opposition to the president's foreign and military policies.

It was recalled that the Progressives supported the Roosevelt candidacy against Hoover in 1932, and in 1936 made a formal alliance on the basis of the New Deal's economic and social program, which in a general way has followed the traditional Progressive party viewpoint.

Social Security Benefits to Women Topic at O.E.S. Meet

Clintonville—A talk on "Women's Benefits From the Social Security Act" was given by Attorney Marie Brunner following the business meeting of the Order of Eastern Star Tuesday evening. Mrs. Brunner traced the growth of insecurity and unemployment through the years of American history. In the early days, young and old worked side by side to make a living for the family, she said. As the years went by and machinery replaced workers, the services of old people were no longer needed. In order to provide security for persons past the age of 65, the old age assistance and old age insurance provisions were put into the social security act of 1935. The speaker explained how the workers' benefits are built up during their years of employment.

During the chapter's business session plans were outlined for a food sale some time in October with Mrs. Irving Auld as chairman. A public card party was also planned. Arrangements to be made by a committee of which Mrs. R. E. Knister is chairman.

Mrs. F. C. Walsh, worthy matron, and Mrs. George McCauley, associate matron of the Clintonville chapter, announced that they will attend sessions of the Wisconsin Grand Chapter Order of Eastern Star at Milwaukee on Oct. 1, 2 and 3. This will be the golden anniversary of the grand chapter and special programs are being prepared for the event.

At the close of the meeting a lunch was served to about 55 members, the teachers being special guests for the occasion. The serving committee included Mesdames H. V. Larson, James Sorenson, Reuben Lendved, B. G. Donley, R. M. Roach, Mabel Marson and Ethel Larson.

Twelve members of the Clintonville Rebekah lodge attended the district convention at Iola Tuesday afternoon. The group went to New London for the evening where a model initiation was inspected by Mrs. Ethel Woodward of Knapp, Wis., assembly vice president. The local group included Mesdames Martin Falk, George Berndt, W. D. Holmes, Chris Johnson, Frank Kohl, W. H. Schmidt, George Olson, Sam Finch, Sr., Mildred Dixon, Anna Johnson, Ralph Parfitt and Miss Pauline Winter. Mrs. Parfitt, who now lives at Iola, has retained her membership in the Clintonville Chapter of which she is a past noble grand.

The S. O. E. club will hold its first meeting of the season at the Masonic temple Friday afternoon. Hostesses will be Mrs. Edward J. Meyer and Mrs. A. L. Merrill.

The circulation department of the Appleton Post-Crescent is represented in Clintonville by James Bohr, 48 Main street. Orders for subscriptions may be left with him. Subscribers missed by carrier should call Mr. Bohr, telephone 6371, before 7 p. m.

Catholic Study Club Has First Meeting

Clintonville—The Catholic Women's Study club opened its fall and winter season Tuesday evening when a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Carl Schlinger on S. Main street. The program included a scripture reading by Mrs. Carl Zoch; answer to roll call with current events; Bible history lesson by Mrs. Jack Kelly; a magazine article from the Catholic Digest read by Mrs. Frank Joswiak; and a book review of "The Wood Carver of Tyrol" by Walsh, given by Mrs. Frank Olmsted. A social hour followed and lunch was served by Mrs. Schlinger and Mrs. Fred Fumelle. The October meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Carl Zoch with Mrs. D. D. Kinsman as the assisting hostess.

Dr. Keith Larson of Chicago is spending this week here with his mother, Mrs. Ethel Larson, and other relatives and friends.

Members of the St. Martin Lutheran Men's club of this city attended a group meeting Tuesday evening at Wittenberg.

The Tuesday Contract club was entertained this week by Mrs. Fred Bus at her home on N. Main street. Two tables were in play.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ruppenthal and children moved to Tigerton Monday.

The Matinee Bridge club was entertained Wednesday by Mrs. Henry Korb at her home on Eighth street. Two tables of contract were followed by the serving of a luncheon. High honors were won by Mrs. John Ewer, Mrs. Harry Isaacson and Mrs. Rudolph Rulsh.

Clintonville Scout Drive Opens Tuesday

Kaukauna Will Have Football Under Lights

Athletic Council Has Authorized Moving of Ball Park Equipment

Kaukauna—The high school squad continues practicing for Saturday's game here with Menasha but the news of the week is that Kaukauna will have football under the lights soon.

The athletic council has authorized the moving of the lights now at the ball park to the high school field. Kaukauna's first night game is slated for Friday evening, Oct. 11, with Snavano the homecoming opponent, with another evening session Nov. 11, against St. Mary's of Menasha. Kaukauna has an open date Nov. 1 and efforts are being made to book an opponent.

In the fall of 1938 the transfer of the lights was approved but nothing was done. Since then the south side of the field has been widened, and the poles can be placed back their proper distance.

Getting back to the football team, Coach Paul E. Little's squad was slated for heavy work today, capped by a light signal practice tomorrow afternoon. The Kavs came through the West DePere game, which they won last Saturday 25 to 0, in good shape, and all players will be available Saturday.

Menasha always gives the Kavs a tough battle, and this year Coach N. A. Calder has one of his better teams. It held a veteran 20 Batters, out to a 14 to 12 victory at Menasha Friday night.

As the season wears on it appears Little has about solved the "center of the line problem" apparent before practices started. In the West DePere game three players did well at positions new to them, John Vette at center and Ray Hurst and Calvin Spive at tackle.

Kaukauna fans are listening to a revamped cheering section this fall. Sherman Rogers and seven girls, Betty Jirkovic, Claire Hilgenberg, Peggy Emmertman, Pat Charlesworth, June Strick, Marian Wodjenski and Dolores Macorrie, cooperate with the ban din leading the yells.

Faculty Members Named to Serve on Class Committees

Kaukauna—Faculty members to serve on class committees during the school year have been appointed by Superintendent James F. Cavanaugh and Olin G. Dryer, principal. The committees are as follows:

Seniors, Olin G. Dryer, chairman, Miss Ethelyn Handman, Miss Marcella Thompson, Miss Lucille Ley, Miss Florence Bourdieu, Paul E. Little, juniors, Miss Mildred Fellner, chairman, Miss Frances Corry, Miss Ann Gibbons, Stanley Beguhn, Roland Morrison, C. J. Kriesa; sophomores, LaRue Smith, chairman, Miss Edith Porterfield, James T. Judd, Harvey Greischar, Howard Schlitz; freshmen, Thomas Nolan, chairman, James F. Cavanaugh, James McGrath, Clifford H. Kemp, Miss Elaine Bourgeois and Miss Lucille Austin.

High School to Have Six Lyceum Programs

Kaukauna—Six lyceum programs, opening with Guesing, the Magician, Tuesday morning, are slated for Kaukauna High school students this year.

Other programs are R. Fraunfelder, Sr., and his Swiss family with yodeling and instrumental renditions, Oct. 10; Edwin A. Rowland, America's foremost autograph collector, will lecture on "The Value of a Hobby," Nov. 13; Reginald and Gladys Laubin, exponents of American Indian dancing, will appear Dec. 13, movies, handicraft and costumes of people along the route of the highway through Mexico and Central America will be shown Feb. 4 by Theodore Schreiber; a lecture demonstration on the history of Holland will be given March 23 by Roland Van Cavel.

Diamond Men Eye U. S.

That the United States is destined to become the world's diamond center is the view taken by the heads of one of the biggest diamond mining and trading companies of Johannesburg, South Africa, which has announced that it will form an American corporation in the United States to cut, market and distribute South African diamonds, Antwerp and Amsterdam, formerly the chief diamond centers, are out of the picture, and the Johannesburg diamond men believe that London, which now ranks as a center cannot serve the American market adequately. They hold that the United States and Johannesburg are the only centers available to diamond purchasers. Johannesburg's importance in the American market is growing.

Court of Honor

Kaukauna—Rotary troop boy scouts are planning to attend a court of honor at Brillion Sunday. Another trip being mapped is to Lawrence college observatory.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Goodland Lauds Citizenship Work in Woman's Club Talk

Kaukauna—"People are beginning to realize that unless they guard their privileges they may lose what they have taken for granted for years," Mayor John Goodland, Jr., of Appleton told Kaukauna Woman's club members yesterday afternoon at the library clubrooms. Mrs. Theodore Oudenhoven, chairman of the citizenship committee, was in charge of the program.

Mayor Goodland stressed the valuable citizenship work being done at the annual Badger Boys State camp, where 300 boys from Wisconsin spend eight days studying city, county and state government, and put each branch into actual government; the citizenship day held in Outagamie county last May at which young people who have reached the voting age are taught something of their responsibilities; the work of schools and civic organizations which promote good citizenship.

Mrs. Morris Gifford, chairman of the safety committee, announced the program which her committee, in conjunction with the state highway commission, and Kaukauna High school, will put on this year. Chairmen of high school classes are John Vette, seniors, William Dryer, juniors, James DeGoey, sophomores, and Carol Leigh, freshmen. Miss Lucille Ley is faculty adviser. Chief of Police James E. McFadden will assist with the safety program.

Mrs. Paul Doering entertained two tables of bridge at her Crooks avenue home last night, with prizes going to Mrs. Harvey Donnermeyer and Mrs. Robert Huss. Guests were Mrs. Catherine Schmidt and Mrs. H. E. Pankow of West DePere.

Relatives and friends surprised Mrs. Henry Schuh at her Lawrence street home Tuesday evening on the occasion of her birthday anniversary. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schuh, Appleton, and Mr. and Mrs. George Harley, Darboy. Cards were played, with Miss Evangeline Schuh and Mrs. Pat Sorenson receiving prizes. Lunch was served.

A play was selected and tryouts slated for Wednesday as Holy Cross senior CYO met last night at the church hall. The group approved a donation toward purchase of an iron lung. Lois Wieseler was chairman of the social committee, assisted by Martha Romanesko, Jack Hatchell and Boniface Pendergast.

Odd Fellows will meet at 7:30 tonight at their hall on E. Second street.

Mrs. Nic Cavanaugh entertained the Y. M. S. club at her home last night, with lunch following cards. The card prize went to Mr. James Mankosky.

Mrs. Joseph Vanevenhoven and Mrs. Pat Burns received prizes at cards Tuesday afternoon as Mrs. Charles Vanevenhoven entertained the Sunshine club at her home. Mrs. Joseph Vanevenhoven will entertain the group Oct. 8.

Tentative Date Is Set For Senior Class Play

Kaukauna—Seniors have set Nov. 21 as the tentative date for their annual class play, according to La Rue Smith, director. The class will give "O Professor," a 3-act comedy written by Katherine Kavanaugh. Five boys and seven girls are in the cast, with tryouts being held this week.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—I want to reveal an example of the harmful effect of the New Deal's dishonesty on the editorial morals of a newspaper which is working that side of the street.

The Tribune of Tampa, Fla., has apologized to its readers for having published a recent column of mine wherein it was observed that "the American people long ago wearily abandoned principle and surrendered to the what-the-hell philosophy which holds that any crookedness short of downright criminality is all right if it is clever and produces results." "This spirit," it was remarked, "marks a great change since 1932 and 1933, when Americans still had the will and the morals to resent crookedness."

The Tribune says this shows that I hate Americans and promises that hereafter if my copy contains statements indicating that my miso-Americanism is a progressive paranoï it will not be printed. That is exact. It is not Americans that I hate but crookedness and publishers who condone this moral slackness.

The Tribune did not always hold the views expressed in this apology.

In the spring of 1933 the Tribune made a spirited expose of one of the most arrogant, corrupt and dishonest acts of the New Deal up to that time. But the New Deal got away with that one by sheer power and effrontery.

On that occasion a local grand jury returned the usual seasonal spring batch of indictments against local New Deal politicians in connection with the traditional Florida crime-must-go fiesta, which corresponds to the pagan harvest festivals. The foreman of the grand jury was a WPA worker who was instantly fired from the WPA with the explanation that there were no further funds available for his particular job. He appealed to the local court on the ground that the WPA politicians of the New Deal's state machine were trying to intimidate grand juries and the courts by punishing a grand jury foreman for doing his duty as a citizen. This threw a scare into the WPA political gang, and a few hours later they miraculously "found the funds with which to retain the man on his job. The state WPA administrator—a New Deal machine politician, of course—was summoned to testify before a new local grand jury regarding this obvious attempt to coerce grand juries and the courts. He refused on the authority of Harry Hopkins in Washington, who held that no state agency could investigate a federal agency. Even the federal district attorney went to bat for the state administrator, thus bringing the department of justice into the play on the side of corruption and in opposition to civic decency in local government.

The proposition was that if you indicted New Deal WPA machine,

I am not certain that such responsibilities do rest upon an employer, but the Tribune is bound to admit that they do, for that has been one of the favorite contentions of the New Deal ideologists, and the Tribune is a New Deal paper.

So it will be seen that the Tampa Tribune itself has now succumbed to the what-the-hell philosophy—a great change since as recently as 1938, when the paper still had "the will and the morals to resent crookedness."

Club Told About Defense Efforts

Weckwerth Describes Utility Protection Against Sabotage

Kaukauna—Steps which are being taken for the protection of utility plants against sabotage were described before Rotarians yesterday noon at Hotel Kaukauna by H. F. Weckwerth, superintendent of the Kaukauna utility department.

Weckwerth recently attended a conference of utility executives at Washington, called by Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, to discuss the relationship of the private, municipal and government utilities to national defense.

Sabotage is more likely to occur before a nation is involved in war than during the conflict, it was brought out. Utilities are keeping their plants well lighted, deputizing employees and strengthening routine precautions.

By 1945 a power shortage is likely, those attending the conference were told. The government wished information on utilities engaged in expanding their plants or building new ones.

Sabotage is unlikely at a plant's powerhouse. Protection should be centered on sub-stations and distribution lines, it was pointed out.

That $178 Cut From The Slot Machines Is Kicked Around Again

Kaukauna—Sept. 11 the city clerk admitted a $178 slot machine "cut" was in his vault. But no one knew where it came from. Yesterday the city clerk admitted it was gone. But no one knows, at least officially, where it went.

When Joseph V. Krahn, relief director, gave the clerk the money the director received a receipt.

"I've got the receipt back. I gave Krahn the money," Lester J. Branzel, city clerk, said. What did the relief director do with the money?

"I don't know anything about it," Krahn said last night. Some tavern owners admitted yesterday that they "got their money back." The plan seems to be to deposit the lump sum in the bank and in December donate it to the Christmas cheer fund.

The money came from slot machines Labor day weekend, when someone arranged the scheme by which the slot machine owners, tavern keepers and the city relief department were to split the "take."

Haase High in Bowling Loop

Scores 234 Game, 584 Series as Commercial League Begins Season

Kaukauna—Herb Haase kegled a 584 series and 234 game to top all Commercial loop bowlers last night at Schell alleys as the league began another season. Haase' heavy hitting led the K. E. W. five to two games over Lehrer Meats, with Charley Schell collecting 497 for the losers.

Arthur Gerhartz knocked out a 565 triple, but his Thilmany teammates dropped the odd game to Mellow Brews. Amay Bayoregon paced the Brews with a 514 count. Verfurths took two from Kaukauna Machine Corporation, Ray Morgan's 551 topping the winners and J. Stoege's 551 the losers.

In the fourth match Berens won two from Ideal Cafe. N. Jansen socked 487 for Berens and Joe Caskey 465 for Berens.

Reform Bad Monkeys

Bad monkeys of Durban, South Africa, are being cured by kindness. They have ceased their impish and sometimes ferocious tricks. Timid women living at the beach collapsed in hysteria at sight of monkeys using their cosmetics and grinning into mirrors. For nights they slept with windows closed. Small school children panicked when troops of monkeys waylaid them and stole their lunches. Daring monkeys invaded the town, sweeping from roof to roof. Fierce monkeys wounded visitors who ventured to feed them with bananas and nuts. All this has been changed. When there was an outcry for extermination of the animals the S. P. C. A. stepped in and offered to feed them systematically. Now the monkeys are behaving themselves perfectly.

The Juvenile Court of Tokyo, Japan, will organize juvenile protection consultation offices throughout the city as part of its crime prevention activities.

Pain in Lower Back Region Is Symptom, Not a Disease

Madison—"Pain in the lower back is a symptom, not a disease," warned the State Medical Society in a health bulletin today.

"The causes of pain in the lower back are legion, a few of which are: influenza, along with other acute diseases; displacement of the womb, or tumors of the womb; inflammations, infections or stones in the kidney and its related structures; cancer of the intestinal tract; tonsillitis; abscesses of the rectal region; abscesses at the root of an apparently healthy tooth; pregnancy; constipation; growths and inflammations of the prostate gland; gallbladder trouble. All these and more may lead to involve the lower back as a center of pain."

"Backache is not very common in children unless due to injury. Occupational injuries, such as those that occur to persons who lift heavy objects, are frequently causes. In athletics, sports, and games, such as diving, tennis, handball, golf, horseback riding, backache is a common occurrence.

"Rheumatic conditions occurring in the lower back have a very important predisposing bearing upon the condition known as sciatic neuritis. Pressure on the nerve, pinching of the nerve, congestion around the nerve cause pain which radiates around the pelvis and down the back, or the outer or inner sides of the leg."

X-Ray Important

"Physical examination must be performed in a routine manner in order to prevent overlooking important conditions. The x-ray is a very important factor as well as urine tests, and tests of the intestinal content and secretions and metabolism."

"Treatment of backache depends upon the causes and the individual who has the backache. The patient is especially concerned with the treatment of the attack which produces the backache; the physician is especially interested not only in relieving the patient of the present attack but in minimizing the danger of future attacks. The treatment includes mechanical factors, dietary factors, glandular, foci of infection, physical therapy, including radiant heat, gentle massage, and in some cases, diathermy or deep electricity.

The physician knows that every case in so diverse a symptom complex as low back pain is individual and requires its own particular kind of treatment. Therefore, complete physical examination by the family physician is recommended to determine the underlying causes of that common symptom,—low back pain."

Car Tax Revenue Up 40 Per Cent In Last Decade

Most of Increase In State Diverted To General Coffers

Post-Crescent Madison bureau Madison—State highway tax revenues, exclusive of federal aid, have soared upward 40 per cent in the last decade, a review of highway commission financial reports disclosed here today.

Receipts from automobile licenses have risen about one third, while gasoline tax collections have increased 50 per cent, the tabulations showed.

In 1931 Wisconsin motor vehicle owners paid only $21,407,000 for the privilege of driving their motor registration fees. In the fiscal year recently closed, they contributed almost $33,000,000 to the state treasury.

Ten years ago motorists paid slightly less than $11,000,000 in gasoline taxes for the construction and maintenance of the highway system.

In the fiscal year just concluded, they paid the state a total of almost $21,000,000 in gasoline taxes, plus an additional $5,000,000 to the federal government.

Greatest jump in highway tax collections has been experienced in the last four years, with the upward spurt noted to a high degree in 1937.

During the same 10-year period, however, highway commission books disclosed a tremendous amount of diversion of motorists' highway tax funds to other state governmental purposes.

On July 1 of this year the state general fund had a balance of about $7,500,000, while it owed the highway commission, according to legislative appropriations of that department's receipts for highway purposes, a total of $31,000,000.

The excess of obligations over cash on hand, accordingly was about $23,000,000 the amount which has been effectively "diverted" from highway department coffers during the ten year period.

Significantly, the amount of "diversion" is approximately equal to the difference in revenues today and 10 years ago.

Dogs Numerous in Christoph Home; Only One Has Appetite

Waupaca—With a natural sentiment for dogs, particularly as it concerns Major Money, pedigree English bull dog, the family mascot, it has been quite the logical thing for Mrs. Horace Christoph to center her desire for "collecting" around dogs. From Alberta, Canada, to Reynosa, Mexico, from California to New York, she has gathered her dogs of china, of pewter, of iron and of wood. Hand carved dogs, good luck dogs, dogs but an eighth of an inch in height, imported and domestic, the collection has grown so much, in the last seven years that a cabinet for their own special use now houses the 581 pieces of this hobby.

Thoroughly familiar with her dogs without glancing at the label on each which tells whence and when it came, Mrs. Christoph tells you that her most prized dog is the bull dog purchased in Hollywood. However the hand painted china setter which she bought from a Chinaman in San Francisco's Chinatown runs a close second.

The Chinese "good luck" dog on a base of teakwood, has a peculiar interest due to the fact that it was once used by Chinese for worship. It occupies a prominent place in the cabinet although it is not an object of beauty. Modeled on the lines of a dragon, it rivals even "Major" in lacking the qualities most pleasing to the eye.

From both the New York and the San Francisco fairs have come cast iron dogs, each with the fair's insignia. Then there is a set of six cast iron dogs mounted on a pedestal, each dog playing a different musical instrument, all of them gaily painted.

A dachshund from Satalina is made of a pottery peculiar to that island in the Pacific. Mexican clay goes into another dog which she brought from Tijuana a year ago.

From Italy

Two hand-carved dogs, three inches high, were imported from Italy at a cost of 38 cents duty on each tiny dog. Dresden dogs from German appear in the cabinet but the war is making them noticeably hard to get these days.

A wolfhound in alabaster-like loveliness was picked up in an antique shop a short distance from Mrs. Christoph's home, while a "bottle dog" was the gift of her grandfather and is 50 years old.

With a dog from every state of the union except Montana, Washington and Oregon, there are others from Canada and from Alaska. Two years ago when the Christophs were on the west coast they returned with 87 canines for the collection—a year ago with the war already making it difficult to collect, they returned with a mere 30.

The smallest dog is a hand carved Scottie which Mrs. Christoph purchased in New York city—it is but one-eighth of an inch in height but perfect in every detail.

Unique is the collection of dog buttons which she has arranged on round pedestals, reminding one of a three-ringed circus.

From St. Petersburg she returned with a dog made of a bar iron the Florida bar tree. Then there are the dogs of wicker, of glass, plaster parge, putty, silver and pressed paper.

An iron dog serves as a "door porter" and even the family "Major" has his stuffed dog with which to play. Major is the grandson of the grand champion of the American kennel club and has been a member of the family since he was 14 days old, coming with his master from South Dakota two years ago.

Artistically arranged along a wall of the pleasant dining room, the collection is graced with the photograph of an English setter.

Richmond, Va.—"Tails I win, heads you lose" was true enough in the case of a citizen who dropped a two "tails" nickel in a downtown parking meter.

40 Farmers at Seymour Party

Kiwanis Club Host At Dinner, Program; Shawano Man Speaks

Seymour — The Kiwanis club entertained about forty farmers at a dinner and program Tuesday evening at Hotel Falck.

The speaker was Louis Zharatka of Shawano. His subject was "A Practical Dairy Cattle Breeding Program." He stressed the importance of a good testing program, dairy improvement and the need for improving the herd sire and cows in the herd. New methods of artificial breeding have been developed, which are changing the entire dairying program in the country. The mechanical process of this new breeding development was explained by Mr. Zharatka. Every farmer has the opportunity to improve his herd, taking advantage of this new program.

The Tri-County association, with headquarters at Shawano, own many fine sires which are available to farmers. Shawano, Brown and Outagamie counties are members of this association and others are joining. Many herds in this county have signed up with the organization. Farmers are exhibiting much interest and enthusiasm in the program for herd improvement, according to Mr. Zharatka.

dered and is to be available by the end of the week.

The corn borer has been discovered in some sections of the county. No serious damage has yet been apparent. Farmers are taking precautions against the spread of the pest by increasing the use of the silo; by burning refuse, stalks and cobs; the complete plowing under of all refuse on the corn field.

County Agricultural Program Is Discussed At Chilton Meeting

Chilton — Ray Pallett, assistant county agent leader of the agricultural college at Madison, met Monday evening with the agricultural committee—O. H. Leverenz, George Kloeppel, William J. Koch and F. J. Flanagan to discuss plans for a county agricultural program for the coming year. It was suggested that the committee invite in some of the farm leaders and farm women interested in the different phases of farming throughout the county to offer ideas and suggestions.

Mr. Pallett returned here Tuesday to be present at the regular meeting of the Chilton Kiwanis club where he was the guest speaker. A number of the farm leaders of the county also were present at the meeting. Mr. Pallett discussed the plans for an extension program dealing with farm problems, illustrating his suggestions with colored pictures. He told about the interest taken in the 4-H club school held annually at Madison by the Kiwanis club of Milwaukee during the eight years he was a member thereof.

The farmers in Calumet county are meeting with success in the use of sodium chlorate for the destruction of creeping jenny. A ton has already been used and an additional ton of the chemical has been or-

Willkie Talks to the Independents

Mr. Willkie has attracted great crowds on his visit to the West Coast and the Northwest, but he has carefully directed his remarks to the independent voters. Repeatedly he has said he wants to talk to the people who are willing to listen to reason. Now the Gallup poll indicates that Mr. Willkie's most striking gains compared with the polls of 1936 have been among the independent voters of the nation.

The Gallup survey indicates that approximately one-fifth of all voters are independent. Today President Roosevelt has only 51 per cent of the independents who have expressed a definite opinion on how they will vote in November as against 76 per cent recorded for him in 1936. Willkie has 49 per cent of the group with a definite opinion on how they will vote compared with 24 per cent for Landon in 1936. There is in addition a large group, estimated at 18 per cent of all independents, still waiting to hear what the candidates have to say before making up their minds.

With this small section of the nation's voters rests the decision on the continuation of the New Deal policies and on the two term tradition of the Republic. The leaders of both groups are now bending their best efforts toward holding what they have and at the same time capturing the confidence of the remaining independents. The Democratic method is well known. It is simply that of spreading government billions broadcast among the voters with the assurance that people will not vote against the man who is passing out the checks. The farmers are being paid soil conservation, or for as one independent farmer has said, "for what I have done all my life." The WPA rolls are steadily increasing and firms receiving government contracts are being required to pay for the Democratic election bills by the purchase of advertising in campaign books.

For those who cannot be reached with government cash there must be held out the fear that Hitler will overwhelm the Americas if there is a change of administration at Washington.

Against this tremendous political power Mr. Willkie has been carrying on stoutly and there is evidence that his campaign technique has improved greatly. With this change has come more listeners and more readers following his arguments. Perhaps the best indication of his effectiveness comes from the opposition. Following his address on public power in Oregon, Harold Ickes, the Democratic Goebbels rushed out with damp earth in each hand to demand that Willkie tell the people frankly his stand on public power although he had said in all frankness that the government should complete the dams but that the people of the district rather than the government should decide whether privately-owned companies or power districts should retail the electricity. Ickes still thinks there is something to be made of the public utilities issue.

General Johnson thinks the sole reliance of Mr. Roosevelt for reelection is war publicity and war excitement, and says "no informed person in Washington doubts that this administration is headed straight for war involvement." He advocates Mr. Willkie taking the gloves off to expose the campaign of the Anglophiles to recast Mr. Roosevelt and force us into the war as an ally of England.

There are others who believe that business is being lulled to sleep with big defense contracts and encouraged to forget the threats to "tax and tax and re-elect and re-elect" when the starry-eyed New Dealers "had a mandate" to do what they pleased, because all but two states out of the forty-eight had assured them they knew what was best for the country. If the New Dealers had a mandate because of a reelection, what will they claim if they are given a third term? The samples of arrogance in office under the second-term mandate should be a warning even though things are relaxed a bit and made more pleasant as November approaches.

But Mr. Willkie fights on for the support of the independent, the thinking voter, when he says:

"We can lick the employer if we want to. We can beat him down, we can fight him, we can even eliminate him. But if we do that—and that is what the New Deal is doing—you won't have any jobs. The only employer left under those circumstances would be the state. "The difference between me and my opponent for office is that I have faith in America. The New Deal candidate does not believe there are any more jobs, whereas I know there are. He does not believe we can put the unemployed back to work, whereas I know that we can."

That is the real American issue of the campaign. It is the meat of the whole argument. It is more important than public or private ownership of utilities. With the unemployed back at work and with a good sound national defense most of our troubles will be gone.

Taking Things Easy

One of the characteristics of the American people in the recent series of crises, internal and external, with which they have been confronted in recent months is their refusal to get very excited about it.

In vain the politicians point with pride and view with alarm. Attempts to lash the people into a "demonstration" have brought results so patently synthetic that few, if any, have been confused thereby. Still, the vote in the recent primary was a large one, indicating that the people know the score, even if they don't parade through the streets with torches any more.

Even more noticeable is the reaction to war news. If we are to believe Berlin and London, the mortality in hospitals, orphanages and old people's homes damaged by enemy bombs is exceeded only by the damage to "purely military objectives" by the belligerents' own bombs. The news that a ship carrying refugee children had been torpedoed roused only a whisper compared to the roar that would have been raised 20 years ago.

And now the nation is taking even conscription in its stride. The prospect that a million young men may be taken from their homes and jobs for a year seems to be regarded with complete equanimity. What the reaction will be when the draft and national guard mobilization actually get under way remains to be seen, but certainly there has been no widespread protest.

Whether this trend toward calmness is entirely beneficial may be disputed. It is conceivable that a national emergency might arise which would require a quickly crystallized opinion for safety. And, at best, the line between national calmness and national indifference is a thin one.

But it's a lot easier on the nerves, just the same.

It's Important Who Advises

The charge recently made by Senator Wiley that civil service appointees to Federal Security administration posts in Wisconsin must first seek the approval of Democratic political leaders in the state may be with or without merit, but it poses an interesting question nevertheless.

Politicians of all parties often raise their hands in horror at any intimation that an employer of men in industry is attempting in any way to influence his workers' votes.

They have written their horror into law, so that an employer cannot even hint to a worker whom he thinks is the better man for public office.

Without going into the merits of the present law, it may be said that most Americans revolt at the idea of an employer using his powers of hiring and firing to influence elections.

But the public has come to take with a grain of apathy any situation under which government officials indicate to government workers which way they should vote. We have come to expect that it is the natural right of the New Dealers, for instance, to hire millions of job-holders whose one outstanding duty is to vote New Deal and keep the caste in power. Most Americans no longer even raise a protest.

Many have come to accept Mr. Roosevelt's philosophy that any businessman, any man who has made his own living in trade or industry, is a crook and a cheat and interested only in his own selfish interests. By contrast a government official is a person whose only interest is that of the public at large, whether or not his money was left him by ancestors who had to work with their hands and sweat at the brows.

A businessman cannot advise anyone else how to vote because he is doing so only for his own good. But a government big-wig can order his employees how to vote because he is all-wise and his motives are entirely altruistic.

Mr. Roosevelt remarked recently in a "non-political" speech that freedom in America will be jeopardized if government is returned "to the control of those few, who, because of business ability or economic omniscience are supposed to be just a touch above the average of our citizens."

It is an interesting viewpoint. But Mr. Roosevelt cannot be expected to know much about those who have business ability.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Twenty-five of the army's famed "Flying Fortresses" and an equal number, or more, of the navy's powerful twin-engined PBV patrol bombers will soon be sold to Britain.

The negotiations, now nearing completion, have been going on for several weeks simultaneously with conversations regarding the securing of air and naval bases on strategic British islands in the Pacific.

The British are urgently in need of long-range, great weight-carrying planes of the "Flying Fortress" and PBV type. Lack of ships of this kind is a vital weakness in British air power. They have no planes capable of operating over Berlin, which makes it impossible to strike at some of the Nazis' key war production centers located in what were formerly Austria and Czechoslovakia.

A fleet of 25 "Flying Fortresses," which have a cruising radius of over 5,000 miles, would bring the war home to the Germans where it would hurt most. Also, the British could strike smashing blows at Italian industries—and Italy is the Achilles heel of the Axis.

The naval PBVs are needed in the crucial Mediterranean struggle. With a range of 4,000 miles, these mighty flying boats could destroy Italian submarines, transports and supply ships. Italy has to transport everything she needs in her African offensive across the Mediterranean, and the PBV's could cripple this jugular vein.

These planes also are needed to meet the impending assault on Gibraltar, key to British control of the Mediterranean. They also would put Britain in a much stronger position to meet the threat of Spanish intervention.

The army has a total of 50 "Flying Fortresses" plus a number of others in production, which are coming from the factory at the rate of about seven a month.

In addition to buying 25 of those now in service, the British also would like to make an arrangement to obtain every other new ship. Army officials say this would not delay U. S. rearming, but would enable the manufacturer to expand his facilities and achieve a greater output.

The navy is amply supplied with PBVs. It already has 196 in service and 200 more being produced at the rate of one every 36 hours. The new ships are considerably faster and more powerful than most of the 196 in service. Navy heads declare that fifty of these planes could be spared without any impairment to navy air power.

The method of sale under consideration is similar to the sale of obsolete dive bombers and surplus World war rifles, machine guns and munitions last spring. The planes would be turned in to the manufacturers, who would sell them to the British and credit the army and navy with the funds on purchase of new and better ships.

The British plan to fly the giant planes direct across the Atlantic, and crews of English and American airmen are being assembled in Canada for this purpose. The great flying field at Botwood, Newfoundland, probably will be the jumping off point.

Note—Britain also is seeking 250,000 World war model Lee-Enfield rifles. The army has about 1,250,000 in reserve stocks.

DAISY ON THE STUMP
Mrs. J. Borden ("Daisy") Hartman, U. S. minister to Norway, will take the campaign stump for President Roosevelt.

Since her return from the Nazi-occupied country, Mrs. Hartman has been under state department orders not to talk. But the gag will shortly be lifted and she will return to her first love—politics.

Mrs. Hartman will do her orating mostly in Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota, where there are large Scandinavian populations. She is an old hand at campaigning. In 1928 she accompanied Al Smith in all his speaking trips and was active in the 1932 and 1936 campaigns.

NEIGHBOR GENERALS
The U. S. government, which long has dealt in half-way measures in its Latin American relations, at last is making a bold stroke for good will. Announcement will soon be made of the acceptance by all twenty Latin American governments of an invitation to give their chiefs of staff an all-expense courtesy tour of the United States and its military establishment.

The government began this last year by inviting the Brazilian chief of staff, able General Goes Monteiro, to this country. Now, instead of inviting only one general, twenty are being asked—and Monteiro is coming back for a second visit.

Ten at a time, the generals, with one aide apiece, will be flown around the country on the following itinerary: Langley Field, Fort Benning, San Antonio, Fort Sill, Fort Knox, Detroit, New York, West Point, and Washington.

They will ride in a commercial transport plane engaged especially for the purpose by the war department, and all expenses from their respective capitals and return will be on the United States.

Besides its good will value, the tour will be important in advancing the discussions that already have taken place on joint military action in the event of an emergency.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Repeated efforts to persuade Jim Farley to take the stump for Roosevelt have so far been unavailing. Although still holding his job as New York Democratic chairman, the new Coca Cola mogul balks at doing anything for his private "chief." Certain Democratic leaders privately are miffed and are talking of blasting Farley, but this is unlikely. . . . Minnesota's Governor Harold Stassen has a leading role in guiding the labor and of the Willkie campaign. The labor section of the Republican National Committee consults Stassen on all its plans and activities—at direct personal orders from Willkie. . . . The president will not go to the Pacific coast for any campaigning, but he is going to bat personally for Representative Mon C. Wallgren, Democratic candidate for senator in Washington state. Roosevelt will send a message for Wallgren's election.

CORRECTION
In stating that Clay Williams, head of the Reynolds Tobacco company, had camped beside Representative Robert Doughton, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, in order to influence the excess profits bill, this column was misinformed. It finds that Mr. Williams talked to Mr. Doughton only once while the tax bill was under consideration, and in no sense as a lobbyist. Subsequently Mr. Williams appeared before the Senate Finance committee, and although he was opposed to one phase of the bill, that opposition was expressed openly and in the usual manner available to a citizen.

Of the fleet doe, I feel the certain sign
Of autumn in the chill the north winds bring.
When I am far from here, I shall be deep
In memory of quiet woodland places,
Holding the moment that I could not keep,
Recalling quiet pools and starlit spaces.
Amid the noise of crowded city streets,
I shall remember silent peaceful ways.
All winter long, the wooded green retreats
Will shed their tranquil strength upon my days.

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Item on the British point of view (this story isn't new but it has never been told and in view of what is going on in England, it is, I think, worth the telling):

A few weeks ago, President Roosevelt received from some old friends of his in England, whose names must remain no more than Lord and Lady Blank, a long letter. The bulky envelope contained a vast number of clippings from the small-town newspapers of England, Scotland and Wales and each of them was a humorous or human interest interpretation of some happening that had occurred during the Nazi bombings.

An old woman, during an air attack, had herded her pigs and cows into an air shelter, but had herself remained outside; a village square, whose fashionable marriage had been interrupted by an air raid alarm, kissed his bride in the candlelit dusk of the local shelter and signalled the village's hot-polio to join him in the wedding celebration; an ancient veteran of other days had refused to take cover and stumped about, adding great oaths to the anti-aircraft shells that were hurled at the invaders.

Clipping after clipping recounted some spirited tale of British John Smith's attitude toward his tormentors. But what impressed the President far more was that his old friends had not one word to say about the havoc being visited on London. Instead, they concluded their letter thus: "Mail travels slowly and we have just heard with great sorrow of the terrific storms which have swept over your southern states. We sincerely hope that no damage has come to that beautiful old city of Charleston."

An Act By Pages
Item on hero-worship: The senate pages are, for the most part, about as well-behaved a bunch of youngsters as I ever have run across. That dignity of the senate (even though it is often phoney) seems to have seeped into their behavior and whatever they think about it, they do a pretty good job of conducting themselves. There are occasions when some youthful impulse gets the better of them.

At the recent funeral services of the late Speaker, Willkie, who had, there wasn't a page who didn't report himself with proper respect and sincerity, but when the ceremony was over and the house chamber cleared, a small group of them gathered in awe-struck silence about the chair in front of the Speaker's dais in which President Roosevelt had sat. Not a word was said, but four of the boys, bolder than the rest, marched solemnly up to the chair, settled back in it for a moment and, without a smile or a blink, walked out of the chamber.

Item for future reference: Harry Hopkins, recently resigned as secretary of commerce, and for many years one of the President's most trusted friends and advisers, has left Washington and taken up residence in Essex House, looking from the south across New York City's great Central Park.

The one-time social service worker who rose so high in government councils and resigned his cabinet post because of ill health is, according to close friends, no richer than when he came to Washington and in order to maintain himself, will, in spite of illness, devote his time to writing and lecturing.

Friends say that almost immediately you can look for magazine articles from Hopkins on matters social and political and that books on government affairs probably will follow.

Wyngaard
legislative districts are supposed to be prescribed on the basis of population.

There were no sensational shifts in population noted in the recent census, although there continued a steady trend of decrease in some counties in favor of others. Normally the southern and eastern counties would gain representation from any increase in the number of legislators, but since the legislature has already attained its maximum membership, it is unlikely that any drastic revisions will be made.

According to the constitution, the assembly shall never consist of more than 100 members, nor less than 54, while the senate is held within a maximum of one third of the assembly membership and a minimum of one fourth of the members of the lower house.

Since it is highly unlikely that the legislature will decrease the number of its members, it can be predicted that any changes will be confined to decreasing the representation of some of the smaller counties which have suffered considerable declines in population in order to give proper credit for increases in population elsewhere.

MR. SMITH SPEAKS
If more Wisconsin politicians adopted the public speaking style of State Treasurer John M. Smith, state politics would be a lot more interesting and plausible.

For simplicity, common-sense appeal and absence of buncombe, Smith's speeches shine by comparison with most others.

Consider, for example, Smith's explanation of his election in 1933: "Two years ago, with a loud speaker and my Model A, I covered about half of the state and made about 20 short talks a day. In the first days I felt the trend, then in motion, for a change. The rapid growth of that trend swept the present state administration into office. I have no illusion as to my good looks, personality or acquaintance, or even as to my name, the most common of all, having drawn the votes for me in 1938. It was the periodical desire for a change, and I happened to drop in at the right moment."

ON HEIL
Or note the restraint, and the realism, in his analysis of Julius Heil, who heads his ticket.

"Julius Heil, our governor, is loved by everyone who knows him. We love him for his homely speech and manner. It is honest and real. We feel it in his presence. Most of us talk too much, especially when in the presence of those who twist our meaning. Be that as it may, results are what count. Stacking up results, the Heil administration shows few things which can be criticized, while the good things are many and beneficial. I love Julius for his good qualities and his lovable weaknesses."

Not Nervous are You?

Madison—A potentially significant subject, one which recurs every decade and one which the constitution provides that the next legislature must consider when it convenes in the state house in January, is the redistricting of Wisconsin legislative districts.

While no specific guides are provided by the constitution, the legislative districts are supposed to be prescribed on the basis of population.

There were no sensational shifts in population noted in the recent census, although there continued a steady trend of decrease in some counties in favor of others. Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

MORE HUMAN WALDEN

Despite the literary merits of Thoreau's "Walden" when he wrote that he had only three chairs in his house, one for solitude, two for friendship, three for society he betrayed a sad shortcoming. Thoreau's love of and reverence for nature was after all a mean substitute for normal human affection—love of and reverence for a family and children. His own children, or the children of others if it was not his fortune to have children of his own.

The man could have found joy and happiness in bestowing his affection on children even without the formality of adopting them. I have enjoyed reading "Walden" more than once and will enjoy reading it again, but I challenge the author's apology when he cries "I am naturally no hermit." He was indeed a typical hermit for the two years he lived in the woods.

In pleasant contrast to the mean atmosphere of "Walden" is the healthy spirit of this letter written by a Massachusetts woman.

Dear Dr. Brady:
My husband who reads your column often says he wants to advocate wood cutting instead of over-exercising for healthful exercise. Wood cutting in the woods, not just cutting kindling wood.

All about us here the woods are still full of hurricane timber. On our place of 115 acres there are probably hundreds of trees blown down or leaning.

A few weeks ago my husband sharpened his crosscut saw and two axes and said briskly: "Get your water jug and we'll go out and cut our winter's wood."

He and I had both been feeling tired and aimless; he works seven hours in the shop at exacting machinist work, but we find that working two or three hours a day several days a week in the woods, instead of making us more tired, has done us good, given us more energy, better appetites, increased interest in living.

Our sixteen-year-old boy who grew up in town now handles an axe and his end of the crosscut with telling effect.

At first I did some puffing on the crosscut, but while you are pulling the other fellow is resting, and vice versa. After a while I learned how to carry on easily and with enjoyment.

It is a worth while project, exercise, recreation, whichever you choose to make it. It's exhilarating. It is a fine way to help some farmer out and decrease danger of forest fires. Take along a wood cutter who knows how, and see the wood pile up while your health and appetite and physical fitness improve.

Reminds me of the song of the crosscut in the hands of a couple of the Brady boys or one boy and his father, preparing discarded railroad ties to keep the home fires burning in the old white house on Chapel Street on snappy old nights when a fellow longed to get to bed with his geography book—and a Nick Carter story aside.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Soda
Is soda harmful or beneficial if taken to prevent or help rheumatism in the shoulder? (M. L. W.)

Answer—It has no effect on any ailment so far as I know. If anything it is rather harmful to take soda frequently. Less objectionable, declined to adopt a $5 bill during the 1939 legislature.

Not so William Rohan of Kaukauna. Outagamie county's indefatigable Democrat, and former assemblyman, who is going the Republican one better. Rohan's campaign literature comes out for a $2 license fee. He is again a Democratic candidate for the assembly.

After restoration of the ancient and historic church of Nossa Senhora das Mercês in Sabara, Brazil, sacred images which had been deposited temporarily in the church of Rosario were carried in solemn procession through the crowded streets and returned to their original niches.

Air Conditioning
We are preparing to start the furnace (hot air furnace) but would like to install a suitable humidity-gadget if you can suggest anything. Our furnace is a . . . (T. F.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for photograph on "Humidifying the Home."

Plasterer's Hands
Noted one of your readers asked how a plasterer could protect his hands from irritation. That is my wife and I have used this method with satisfaction for many years. I take a handful of coffee grounds, ordinarily thrown away—and rub in hands with warm water as you would use soap. Use morning and night at first, later only at night. The oil from the coffee seems to keep the skin soft and prevent cracking from contact with lime and plaster of Paris. It is cheap and has saved me and my father before me for many years. (L. C. M.)

Answer—Thank you. Perhaps some of our readers will try it and report their experience later.

Looking Backward
25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 30, 1915
The American sailing ship Vincent was blown up Monday by a mine off Cape Orloff in the White Sea. The crew was saved but the boat was a total loss.

The Kaiser reached the western front, coming through Luxembourg at breakneck speed in a special train Tuesday, afternoon and had been in constant consultation with the crown prince and other generals seeking means to bring the French advance in Champagne to a halt.

The Little Chute Trojans met for the first time Sunday to organize for the football season. They were to play the Appleton Jolly eleven Oct. 10.

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 25, 1930
Monsignor Walter J. Fitzmaurice, 72, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church for almost 43 years, died the previous night.

Joe McCarthy, deposed manager of the Chicago Cubs, resigned that day, refusing to finish the season as leader of the National League pennant contenders. Rogers Hornsby was put in charge of the team.

Many farmers in the vicinity of Appleton were making improvements or additions to their farm homes or buildings. Frank Steffen, town of Center, was reshingling his barn. William Ashman, town of Center, was building an addition to his barn. Sidney Haurert, town of Grand Chute, was erecting a large fireproof chicken house and Robert Immel, town of Ellington, was constructing a new machine shed.

After restoration of the ancient and historic church of Nossa Senhora das Mercês in Sabara, Brazil, sacred images which had been deposited temporarily in the church of Rosario were carried in solemn procession through the crowded streets and returned to their original niches.

Beauty and You

NEWEST OF COIFFURES—Perfectly groomed is Olivia De Haviland, with skin smooth as satin and hair arranged in the newest of coiffures.

Every woman owes herself a periodic visit to a first-rate salon if she can possibly manage it. Say, at least once a season. More frequent visits are recommended if time and income allow. But a professional examination of one's skin and scalp every three months should be considered as "an ounce of prevention."

While expert fingers give you a facial and scalp treatment, note how they work. The operator will analyze your current scalp and skin condition and suggest which beauty aids will be most efficacious for corrective treatment. An honest salon will not suggest more acid than what you need. I know women who fear to seek the advice of a beauty salon because they feel operators will lead them with superfluous cosmetics. Those women should have more sales resistance and frankly state they want only the "essential" beauty aids to use at home. They will have no difficulty in getting what they need in a conscientious beauty parlor which is interested in holding its clients.

What Are Essential Aids?
Every skin requires a good cleansing cream and soap. Most dry and normal skins require also a mild freshener and a lubricating cream. If one's face has sagged or wrinkled noticeably then a firming massage or a wrinkle cream is in order. But under no circumstances should a woman leave a salon with eight or nine beauty aids tucked under her arm unless she can easily afford the cost.

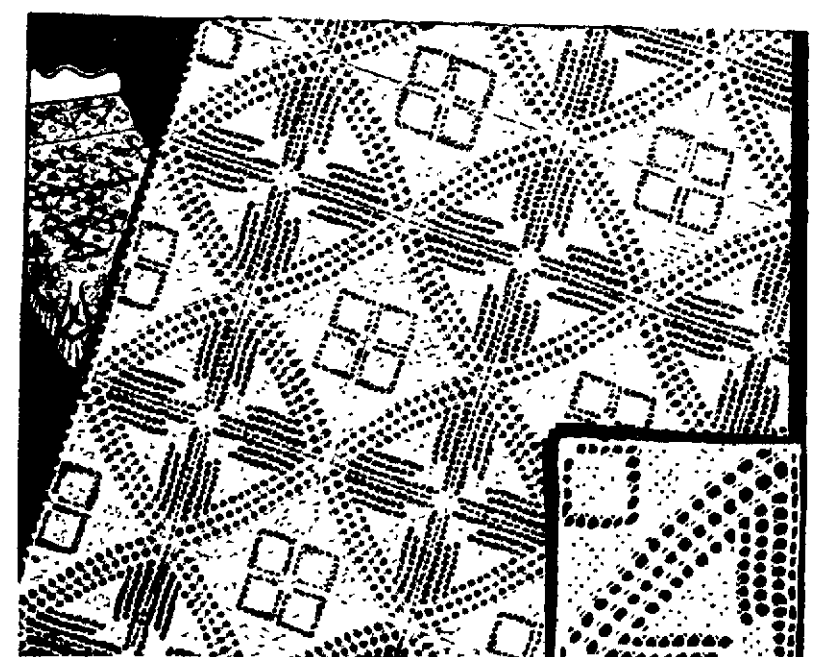

When a woman has a specific skin problem such as a blemished condition, enlarged pores, discolored skin, leathery texture or an excessively oily condition, she should discuss it candidly with the beauty parlor consultant.

"What should I do about these enlarged pores on my nose?" she should ask directly, and if the operator is skilled she will suggest a pore-paste treatment—only ONE additional aid to the cosmetics essential for daily care. Any woman becomes confused and skeptical if several additional cosmetics are suggested.

Regarding Scalp Care
Scalp conditions, likewise, require not more than two or three aids—a corrective tonic, an effective shampoo and possibly a scalp salve or pomade. Of course, there is a wide choice of products for dressing the hair, such as brilliantine, softening pomades, setting lotions and hair colognes but for the actual daily care of the scalp, three aids are sufficient. If a scalp is in such a deplorable condition that a complicated routine must be suggested, the woman would do better to have regular professional treatments than to attempt to correct the condition herself.

How the facial is given, or the scalp treatment, is as important

Each Person Starts With 1,000 Points

BY ELY CULBERTSON

The ranking schedule that will be followed in this year's self rating examination, which will start next Monday, is the same as that used in the last exam.

Each contestant starts with 1,000 points. Every time he answers a question incorrectly, he will be told exactly how many points to deduct from his running net total. Don't get discouraged if you start out losing points; there will be some questions, "tougher" than the others, which will carry, not demerits, but credits, to be added to your net total if you have answered correctly.

Now for the table that will be used in determining the final grades:

Final Standing of	Grade
950 points and over	Master
875-949 points	Expert
800-874 points	Advanced
700-799 points	Good average
600-699 points	Weak average
500-599 points	Poor
Below 500 points	Dub

To those contestants who send their answers to me for rating and who come out with master, expert, or advanced player ranking, I will send signed certificates of merit, stating which of these ranks has been earned.

The bidding:
South 1 club Pass
1 spade 4 spades
Pass Double Pass Pass

This remarkable bidding developed from South's ridiculous one club opening. South was the sort of player who, having been told that "experts" open many hands with one club, even when holding a five card suit, swallows the misinformation in one bite and never recovers from the acute indigestion that follows. West, of course, "trapped" the club bid and when North stepped into the trap with his "sacrifice bid" of five clubs, West felt that the penalty he was about to collect would pay a month's rent. He reckoned without his own partner, however.

The king of trumps was the eminently correct opening lead. Declarer won and, probably feeling that he had taken his last trick, returned the diamond queen. East won and "pumped" declarer with a spade return. Declarer gratefully accepted the force and led the diamond jack. East won and kept right on pumping. Thus, declarer not only brought home his two worthless trumps on spade ruffs, but actually managed to establish and cash a diamond trick, and also to score one of dummy's trumps by leading a fourth round of diamonds. West was blue in the face when it was all over. The six trick penalty (1,100 points) was very acceptable. It was maddening to think of the four additional tricks the defenders had tossed away. West lost no time in pointing out to his partner (a) that if he (West) had wanted to "pump" the declarer, he could easily have opened a spade, and (b) that a heart return by East, after winning the first diamond trick, would have permitted West to draw every trump in dummy and declarer's hand, after which the spade suit and other diamond honor would have accounted for the rest of the tricks. Declarer should have come out with one trick, his trump ace!

Never let baked custard, custard pies or puddings stand in a warm room after they have cooled. Store them in a cold place. This is very important. As soon as pumpkin pies are cool, place them in a cold place, too.

Lemons soaked 10 minutes in warm water will yield more juice than unsoaked lemons.

If some egg yolks get into whites while you're separating them, remove them with a piece of the shell.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

If you are looking for a job and want to write a good letter of application, be sure you read this Case Record carefully. Over 90 per cent of such letters are amateurish and juvenile, even when written by college graduates. A good letter of application, however, will go a long way toward getting you the desired interview. Be sure you have a friend double check your letter for mistakes in spelling, grammar and typing.

CASE R-182: Jack R., aged 21, recently wrote me the following letter asking for a job. The spelling and grammar are often wrong. It is reproduced just as he wrote it.

"Dear Sir:
"Please consider this a application for employment.
"Business today is a modernized, mechanized unit, of which the office acts as its nucleus. Because of this the office force has to be highly trained and exceedingly efficient.
"Recently a large corporation located in Chicago, conducted an investigation proving the in-efficient work of their stenographers and typists. The stenographers could only take 80 words of dictation per minute, and the typists in transcribing material typed only 18 words per minute.
"Is your office force like this one? If it is I have the remedy. I have had two good years behind me for experience, even if they were in school, after all the fundamentals are the important things. A dictation rate of 120 words per minute, and a transcribing speed of 40 words per minute.
"In shorthand and typing I think I have found my niche in the business world. It holds my interest and also I have an interest in it. Certainly you could use a good stenographer or typist, if not please file this away for future reference.
"Any time that is convenient for you I should like to have a personal interview. Hoping for an early and favorable reply (Signed) Jack R."

Double Check Your Letter
I don't wish to appear petty in pointing out Jack's errors, but a man or woman who holds himself up as a good stenographer and typist should not permit a dozen simple errors in spelling and grammar to appear in a critical letter of application for a job.

It is also wise to show enough ingenuity and resourcefulness that you can address your prospective employer by his own name instead of by the vague "Dear Sir".

Jack wasted valuable time philosophizing about business as a "modernized, mechanized unit". An employer seldom cares a whit about such juvenile attempts at philosophy.

He wants to know immediately what practical experience you have had. And he wants this presented tersely so he doesn't have to waste time wading through several paragraphs of unessentials.

How To Write For A Job
The purpose of a letter of application is to procure an interview. Then in the interview you can try to obtain the job. Don't expect the letter, therefore, to get you the job, so avoid details and trivial items therein.

Single-space the letter. Leave wide margins. Avoid the sugary, opening paragraph wherein you try to tell the would-be employer what a wonderful store or factory he has, and how it would be paradise on earth to work in such a marvelous place. Instead, get down to business at once.

After the opening paragraph, indent deeply and with arabic numerals, as 1, 2, 3, enumerate your experience, a few personal items, your technical training and three references. If you wish a copy of a specimen "Letter of Application" and my "Vocational Guidance Chart", send a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope with a dime for handling charges.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Bad Sign if Child Has to Be Forced Into Something

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Now go right off and practice, Addy."

"I'm not going to try for a place on the program. Just make up your mind to that, Mom, because that's what's what."

"You must get over this inferiority complex, Addy. I know you can play better than anybody there. I know it. Practice and you will surely do it. I want you to. And must, I say."

Addy went out slamming the door hard and his mother sighed and moaned. "Why is he like that when I mean it for his good. He thinks he can't play the violin, and so he can't. If he would only try he could. I want him to play at the exhibition and he won't even try for me."

"Maybe he can't?"

"Of course, he can. Why not? He has a good violin and a good teacher and they cost me plenty. Why can't he play if he wants to? Only he doesn't want to. His teacher says he can play and I should encourage him, so I do. But he won't."

It is always a bad sign if a child has to be encouraged too much to do what he ought to like to do. There is something wrong when he happens. He does not need to be encouraged to eat his favorite dessert. Playing a musical instrument, working in a laboratory, creating something in the shop, ought to have about the same appeal to him. If he has to be pushed and driven and forced, either he is trying to do something he cannot do, or he is being forced to do the effort. In either case he will fail.

Playing a violin is an art that comes only by the hard route of effort, self-discipline and personal dedication. And then only if one has the gift. If that is lacking, all the others are useless. If the gift is present the others will appear and be used for the fulfillment of the gift, and there will be no need of such heroic encouragement as this mother was using.

Can't Replace Power
Parents and teachers often try to express themselves through the children. Some cherished and unfulfilled dream seems to have a chance in a certain child, and they go to work to realize the dream in him. If the child possesses the gift they do well, but if he does not they fare badly. One of the surest indications of the absence of the gift and surety of the failure is this need for encouragement, force and pressure treatment.

Children who have gifts will follow them if any experience is allowed them in that field. A musically gifted child will respond to music lessons and the dramatically gifted one will take to playing parts as a duck to water. They will not need pressure. They will struggle for the chance to express their power even in the face of great odds.

All children, gifted or otherwise, need the discipline of routine and the steady power of work. All need encouragement and praise and opportunity to prove themselves to an interested audience. But, be assured it is a bad sign when a child has to be forced into using a gift. When that happens it is almost safe to say he does not possess the gift. It is being wished on him and wishes don't take the place of power. They can add power to power, but the original power must be there and no man can create what God did not originate.

Little children must learn to mind and spanking won't help! Teach them in a sane, kind way. Send for Angelo Patri's booklet, "Obedience," enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Couple Must Compromise On Evening Activities

BY DOROTHY DIX

The chief bone of contention in the family circle is money. Next to that, the thing over which husbands and wives fight most is the stepping-out problem. The husband comes home at night tired after a hard day's work, fed up to the gills with seeing people and going places and doing things, and all he wants to do is to flop into an easy chair with his pipe and not even speak or be spoken to. So when Friend Wife meets him at the door with a fresh hair-do and her complexion on, and brightly suggests that they go out somewhere to dine and dance, or announces that the Borems are coming over to spend the evening and play bridge, he groans in misery and wants to know why, in Heaven's name, they have a home if they never stay in it. Or he curses the man who first thought up a foursome. And the wife either flies into a temper, or sulks, and the battle is on. To the wife the husband's attitude seems utterly selfish and unjustifiable. She isn't tired and she doesn't see why he should be. She doesn't want to spend a quiet evening by her own fireside. She craves to be out among the bright lights where there is laughter and gaiety and something doing. She wants some break from the monotony of cooking meals and fixing baby formulas and buying spinach, and she thinks her husband is a meanie because he won't put on his tails and take her out where she can see and be seen.

Young Wife's Complaints
One young wife, who after six months of sitting at home of an evening with a Tired Business Man is contemplating Reno, sizes up the situation in this way:

"What sort of a sea change," she asks, "takes place in men between the altar and the home that makes them no more like the men girls thought they were marrying than if they belonged to a different species of human beings? Now take me, for instance, I fell in love with Tom because he was so full of pep and because he could think of so many amusing things to do."

"He was always the life of every party and every night we would go some place to dine and dance and have good times, and I thought if I married him that life would just be like that. I would have a steady date that I wouldn't have to worry about, and we would have so much fun going around at night enjoying ourselves."

"But when I got my bargain home, what happens? My Good Time Charlie turns into a stick in the mud. My swell dancer's feet hurt him. My night owl goes to sleep in his chair after dinner. And there I am all dressed up and nowhere to go and nobody to go with, and bored stiff."

"And what I want to know is why a man is never tired before marriage and always tired afterward? And why he always wants to step out when he is single and to stay put when he has a wife who would like to be treated like a best girl instead of a piece of useful household furniture? What's the answer?"

Different Viewpoints
Perhaps the answer is that men and women regard marriage from different standpoints. The average man seldom marries until he is ready to settle down. He has had his playtime and he is tired of light loves and braying bands and turning night into day.

He craves good home-cooked food instead of restaurant a la's, and some place where he can flop and take his ease of an evening instead of having to go out and chase folly as it flies. And he wants a wife of whose affection he is so sure that he can take her for granted and won't have to always be putting on a romantic act of wooing her.

But when a woman marries she tries to carry her girlhood along with her and make a perpetual thing of it. She expects marriage to be a sort of never-ending petting party and for her husband to tell her how he loves her, sending her flowers and rushing her around to places of amusement.

Should Compromise
Hence the conflict between the wife who wants to dance her slippers off at night and the husband who wants to rest his feet at home. And the pity of the matter is that both are right and both are wrong. For it is not to be denied that all housework and no play makes any woman a mighty peevish and fretful companion.

Nor can it be gainsaid that it is cruelly to dumb animals to force a work-woman man to cap the day's labor by doing tricks at a party at night.

So the solution of the problem seems to be compromise. For the husband to doll himself up, without protest or argument, and step out with his wife one night a week. If she will let him spend the remainder of the time at home in peace and comfort.

Casual Slaughters

By Virginia Hanson

Yesterday: Unable to sleep. Kay starts thinking. She comes to the conclusion that Sandra was blackmailing the murderer. Suddenly she remembers her rejected manuscript and decides to get it.

Chapter 40
'Lover's Return'

The corridor was not quite dark. A dim light had been left burning on the cross hall that led to the lounge, and a small faint light over the side door let in a little light from the street. To my left, not more than a dozen steps away, was the door to my rooms. Directly opposite Felicia's door and mine were those of two empty guest rooms which I knew were kept locked when they were not in use. To my right, beyond Felicia's room, and beyond the cross hall, stretched a double row of cryptically closed doors. Now that Sandra and Jeff were gone, only one other room in this wing was occupied, and that by the chaplain. Gerald was upstairs somewhere, among the bachelors.

There was no one in sight in either direction. Nevertheless that strange child persisted. I told myself that I had imagined the creaks and rustles, the click of the door latch. I had to get that manuscript! I would simply unlock the case, open it, extract the manila envelope and bring it back to Felicia's room to read. It was nonsense to suppose that I was in any danger—

Clasping my pocketbook tightly in hands that were suddenly damp, I edged along the wall that distance of twelve steps, found the knob, of the other door and pulled myself toward it as if I were walking a tight rope. I was tempted to turn back as I faced the mystery of what might lie within that closed room, but I listened as well as I could above the hammering of my heart, and heard nothing; so presently, rebuking myself for a coward, I turned the knob and swung the door wide.

There was no light, no sound within the room. Fearfully I pressed the switch and inspected the light-flooded room, not neglecting to peep through the crack behind the wide-swinged door. I had been fooled by that just once in my life and it had been a costly error.

There was no one there. I crossed the room on light steps, leaving the corridor door open behind me, and repeated my maneuvers in the bedroom. I looked under the disheveled beds; I looked in the closets.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a woman to accept a diamond engagement ring before her divorce becomes final?

Answer: If you mean an accurate definition of the word "proper"—certainly not! On the other hand, if the interlocutory decree has been granted so that she really is divorced but not yet free to marry, their conduct, it seems to me, is something for them to decide. If they are letting every one know they are engaged and are going to be married as soon as the law lets them, it seems to be that whether she wears a ring or not is of comparatively small importance.

ber from a high school course, set myself to decipher it.

A few lines were enough to tell me that this was merely the dictation I had given Sandra on Tuesday. I began to skip, puzzling out a phrase here and there, turning the pages, reassuring myself that there was nothing more.

Nothing more? I turned the last page and saw, detached from the rest of the text, a line of four characters.

I puzzled over them for a moment. The first was the little curved stroke that denotes the hard sound of the letter c—kub or k or can. The second character seemed to be red Can read—that didn't make sense. No, wait—can read? I went on to the last two, which were more complex, with the two little strokes under each that mean capitals. A title. With that as a clue I deciphered them.

Lover's Return! The manuscript she had helped me copy! I was right! Can read—no! What a fool I was! Kay read Lover's Return!

My fingers trembling with almost unbearable eagerness, I tore open the manila envelope and drew out the eighteen or twenty typed pages. I started to read. I don't know what I expected to find—underlined words, interlinations—

I Have Decided—
There was nothing. This was just the story I had written, the pages I had copied and proof-read myself. Sandra had done the last six or eight pages. I flopped the manuscript on without him. He's—why, don't you understand? He's part of my life!

That was no good. My own death lines.

I had started to turn the page when I was struck by the strangely solid look of the lower half of the sheet. No dialogue. Paragraphs that begged to be shortened. Why, that would be a solid block in print—

Maribel flung back her silken curls and stared up at him tragically. "It's no use, Alfred. Sit down and I will tell you my story!"

What was this? Maribel had silken curls, all right, like all proper pulp heroines and maybe she had a past, too. But this was no way to introduce either. Maribel had certainly gone haywire—

With more eagerness than any shopgirl, I began to revel in Maribel's past.

There is an imposter here, and I am the only one who knows it. In the beginning I was assured that I would only do harm by exposing the imposture, and I agreed to keep silent, for a price. I saw, and still see no reason why I should not be paid for a service rendered. I needed the money—not for myself alone, but for the man I loved. There is nothing quite so bitter as to be denied love because of poverty—and that poverty caused by a callous world's rejection of genius. And then he was killed. I still think my husband killed him, and I mean him to suffer for it. But my own future was at stake, too. I had to decide between immediate revenge or security first. I've never been anybody or had anything but the charity of strangers. When the only person I loved lay brutally murdered I care about nothing but power, money, the means to revenge myself on a world that has shown me no kindness.

But something was said about spies which has set me thinking. And I have not yet been paid for my silence. I intend to give the impostor one more chance, but to safeguard myself from one who may be a spy I have decided to record what I know—

A shiver like a tickling feather had started at the nape of my neck and was zigzagging down my backbone. My fingers fumbled as I tried to flip the page and something, I will never know what, drew my eyes to the mirror. The knob of the bedroom door was slowly turning.

Incredulous, I stared at the mirror. I had searched that room. There couldn't be anyone there! I kept on watching the turning knob for an instant of tranced helplessness. Then a picture flashed into my mind—Jeff disappearing into the bedroom, Felicia at the corridor door. I heard again the little sounds of Jeff departing by the bedroom window. The screen—

I had forgotten to latch that bedroom screen!

Wallace Claims AAA Program Is Successful

Ever Normal Granary Working, Candidate Tells Topeka, Kans.

Topeka, Kas., — P. — "The ever normal granary program is working. The nation's farm cash income has risen from $470,000,000 in 1932 to $9,000,000,000 in 1940," Henry A. Wallace told a political rally last night.

"The experience of corn and hog producers for example," he said, "without the corn loan, prices would have been less than 25 cents (per bushel) last year. Hog supplies are being brought into line with markets by the corn loan and corn acreage allotments and the price of hogs on the farm in recent weeks has averaged nearly $7 a hundred."

"The corn loan assures cooperating farmers of a loan value on their corn which this fall is likely to be 61 cents a bushel."

Wallace made the major farm address of his 7,000 mile western campaign swing in the same city where he said Roosevelt "really converted me to his policies."

That was in 1932 Wallace then a nationally known farm editor, came from Des Moines to hear Roosevelt deliver the major agricultural address of his first campaign for president. He later became Roosevelt's secretary of agriculture and, last July, his running mate for vice president.

Wallace recalled the collapse of world war-boomed farm prices and said:

"We remember how discouraged we were when these prices failed to rise again. We remember how farmers organized and appealed for help from Washington, and the cold shoulder they got from the interests that ruled the Republican administration then in power."

"Then in 1932, there was a voice of cheer—the voice of Franklin D. Roosevelt. You found in Roosevelt a man, with courage to bring us up the scales in your behalf."

He said the farm program is an example of "democracy in action and action."

"One of the strongest reasons for the success and permanence of it is the fact that local administration is in the hands of committees that are elected by the farmers themselves."

Discounts Sabotage In Plant Explosion

Clairton, Pa., — P. — R. W. Ostermayer, president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical corporation, said today there was "no possibility of sabotage" in an explosion and fire which destroyed two of the company's buildings yesterday.

Ostermayer said all of his 32 employees "have been with the firm for a number of years." He estimated damage at $50,000 and attributed the explosion to "adverse chemical reaction" in an agitating apparatus which breaks down oils for use in making paint.

A half dozen workmen were slightly burned by flaming tar and chemicals hurled from the buildings with a mass of bricks, steel and other debris.

The former mayor of Milwaukee, now association director of the defense council's state and local cooperation division, warned that "it is important we forget hysteria and think this thing through carefully together."

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—I fear I have done an august body an injustice, and, being a conscientious soul, feel apologies are due.

I refer to the Hays office censors. Some months ago I got an idea into my foolish head that Hays was allowing too much deliberate smut to reach the screen, an impression which was strengthened by many letters from shocked theater-goers.

Then, after seeing that current cinematic gem, "They Drive By Night," and hearing several ordinarily broad-minded ladies brand it as inexcusably salacious smoking-car smart-aleckery, I even went so far as to use this column to chide the Hays judiciary for being asleep at the switch. Asleep—or something!

But it appears I was mistaken, and in all humility I beg pardon. Far from being asleep, Mr. Hays & Co. even then were busy saving American youth from utter catastrophe by banning shots—horror, how can I bring myself to say it?—shots of the udders, the bare, undraped udders, of Elsie the Cow! Yes, the Hays censors, in rightful indignation, were busy ruling that scenes showing Elsie being milked must be taken from the side opposite the milker, so those naked udders could not be seen.

This is a time for compromise. I'm sure you'll agree—particularly those of you who live on farms and know the moral depravity that can result from the sight of an undressed cow—that we have been saved from a major disaster by the Hays office alertness. Therefore, we may perhaps forgive our movie censors if, meanwhile, they overlook minor slips (such as double meaning innuendoes, suggestive scenes and actual smut) in a few other films.

Hutchins Would Divorce Military Work, Education

Chicago—(AP)—No one should be granted exemptions from the draft solely by reason of his enrolment in a college or university, says President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

"Nothing would be worse for higher education in this country than to have it thought that enrolment in a college or university is a method of avoiding conscription," he declared in his annual report.

Dr. Hutchins also said that "military training and education, at the university level, do not mix."

"The university may train people in highly specialized work for which the army and navy have no facilities or personnel. It may offer incidental opportunities to its students to gain some elementary military knowledge, provided such activities do not interfere with their education."

"Beyond these kinds of effort the colleges and universities should leave military training to the military forces and devote themselves to giving their students, while they have them, the best education they can."

Balsam Lake Teacher Head of Supervisors

Madison—(AP)—Miss Ida Ooley of Balsam Lake was named president of the Wisconsin State Supervising Teachers association yesterday at the final session of a conference attended by about 100 members.

Miss Blanche Losinski, of Mt. Horeb, was named vice president, and Miss Pearl Somerville, of Hayward, secretary-treasurer.

An honorary associate membership was awarded to John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. Dorothy McDonald, of the state department, told the conference that the health program for school children should aim at more than physical fitness.

"We want a personal fitness for living in a civilized, not a destroyed, world," she said. "It should not come through totalitarian methods, but through application of the democratic principle of citizenship."

Captain Will Conduct Class For Officers

25 Company Privates Will be Promoted as Guard Unit Enlarges

Captain H. J. Piette, commander of Company D of the 127th infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, will conduct a non-commissioned officers school at 7 o'clock tonight at Armory D.

About 25 privates in the company will be promoted under the expansion of the unit to 123 men, the captain reported today.

Young men of Appleton and vicinity who wish to enlist in the guard unit may do so by appearing at the armory this evening.

On display will be the eight new 30-caliber machine guns which the guard unit received this week.

Nearly 40 young men have enlisted in the company in little more than a week. The company originally had 78 members, but about 24 will be unable to take the year's training at Beauregard, La., because of dependents. The unit has been given an authorized strength of 123 men, which means that there is room for about 70 recruits.

"It should be pointed out to young men without dependents who are eligible for the draft that by joining the guard they are assured of taking the year's training with fellows from their home town," Captain Piette said today.

Killoren Wins In Damage Suit

Circuit Court Jury Finds Defendant 60 Per Cent Negligent

A circuit court jury yesterday set damages at $1,969.30 and found the defendant 60 per cent negligent in the $1,500 suit of E. A. Killoren, Appleton, against H. L. Krueger, Forest Junction, and the Home Mutual Casualty company.

Killoren asked $1,500 damages for injuries to his son, Eugene, and $1,200 for damages to his car. The suit was an outgrowth of an accident July 17, 1939 at the intersection of Highway 10 and a town road about eight miles southeast of Appleton. Cars driven by Eugene Killoren and Krueger crashed at the intersection, the accident resulting in the deaths of two Appleton young people riding in the Killoren car.

The jury found $350 for pain and suffering and $250 for future disability while the court set $227.75 for hospital and medical expense and $1,141.55 for damages to the car.

Freshmen Win 6 of 10 Events In All-College Day Program

Before a large crowd of students and hold-overs from the Campus club picnic at noon, an aggressive band of Lawrence college freshmen defeated the sophomores in the annual All-College day scrap at Whiting field yesterday afternoon.

The frosh took their elders, 6-4, in the 10-event program, which means they can discard their green top-pers on Homecoming instead of Thanksgiving.

Outnumbered heavily, the sophomores nevertheless were able to defend a flag atop a 20-foot greased pole in the opening event. The pole was covered with a half-inch layer of axle grease. Before the battle lines met, a barrage of wild fruit and vegetable smeared all the contestants and several photographers.

The frosh pushed men about 12 feet up the pole on several occasions, but at the end of the 20-minute period were still grounded and pretty well spent.

The sophomore lead was erased by the freshmen girls as they out-tugged and out-squealed the sophomores in a tug-of-war.

The sophomores then lost the next three events. The sophomore men excused themselves for losing the tug-of-war by declaring "We were expecting a gun instead of a whistle at the start."

Perhaps the craziest race of the day was a night shirt sprint between the girls. A large night shirt was used instead of a baton. The first runner garbed herself in the night shirt. When she reached the next runner she had to take off the garment. The next girl had to get into it before sprinting.

Frosh Girls Win
The freshmen girls won the silly thing.

The frosh also won the bag rush, which produced some fancy wrestling.

Several varsity football players served as wickets as the girls staged a croquet race. Each girl had to traverse a complete croquet course. Frank Nencki as the center wicket was mouse-trapped several times. The sophomore girls won.

The sophs brought the score up to 4-3 when they won the horse and rider event. The freshmen girls showed greater agility to win the obstacle race.

With several track men performing, the sophomores won the relay race going away. The sophs had a chance to tie the meet in the final race, a girls relay, but a sophomore girl stumbled and fell.

After the two hour clash was over, the students had enough pep left to organize a football game.

Wiley, Johns to Help City Get Food Stamp Plan

Both Give Assurance They Will Contact Federal Departments

Replies to letters sent by city officials to find out what has happened to the city's application to the department of agriculture for the federal food stamp plan have been received by E. E. Sager, city clerk, from Senator Alexander Wiley and Congressman Joshua L. Johns.

Both men assured city officers that they would contact the federal surplus commodities corporation and the secretary of the department of agriculture to promote the plan for Appleton. Letters also were sent to Senator Robert M. La Follette and to Paul Jordan, regional supervisor of the surplus commodities department.

The city applied for the plan last March but no report was received of any action taken until city officers recently wrote to their congressmen. The plan involves the disposition of surplus commodities to those receiving relief aids under a stamp plan.

Under the plan eligible families will be given an opportunity to buy orange-colored food stamps and to receive free blue surplus stamps in the ratio of 50 cents worth for each dollar's worth of orange stamps bought.

The orange stamps are used to continue the family's regular food purchases, while the blue stamps are used to obtain specially designated surplus foods as additions to the family's food supplies.

international agreements, modification of treaties by orderly processes, respect by each nation for the rights of others and performance of established obligations.

A White House statement announcing the new export restrictions did not explain why continued shipments would be permitted to Britain, but this exception to the western hemisphere limitation obviously was in line with the administration's policy of aiding the British in their war with Germany and Italy.

Nor did the statement mention the Japanese by name. But the action had been expected as a move against Japan in line with frequent United States declarations against disturbance of the status quo in the Far East.

Japanese purchases of American steel and scrap iron to help supply her military machine—active for three years in China and now partly on the move against French Indo-China—have declined this year but still remain large, according to commerce department figures. Britain is now the biggest purchaser of the metal.

Italian purchases were substantial until the British blockade stopped shipment. Records showed no exports of the metal to Italy during July.

The loan to China will be liquidated through the sale of tungsten to this country.

Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, in announcing the loan late yesterday, said that the Metals Reserve company, an RFC subsidiary, had agreed to buy $300,000 worth of tungsten to be delivered over a period of years at prices to be agreed upon in accordance with market conditions.

The tungsten purchase, Jones said, will be a part of the defense program. Tungsten is a heavy metallic element used in alloys and in making a hard steel.

Britain Gives Up Effort to Seize Dakar and executed by French planes at Gibraltar in as many days.

Reports from La Linea, Spain, opposite Gibraltar, said flames were seen leaping up from the naval base and heavy explosions indicated two powder magazines had been hit. Bombs also were said to have fallen in many parts of the town of Gibraltar, causing numerous casualties.

(Official reports from Vichy said the 32,000-ton British battle cruiser Renown had been damaged badly by a direct bomb hit during the Gibraltar raid.)

Long range German guns flung shells across the channel into Dover this afternoon while the Nazi assault on London was renewed by two waves of bombers.

The warplanes which flew against London did not penetrate to the center of the city, but veered off about the time they reached the defense ring. British authorities said the attackers were driven off.

The British air ministry declared that in heavy attacks against Berlin and seven German-occupied ports on the continent last night, the Royal Air Force came off without loss of a plane.

Tempelhof Port Target
Berlin objectives hit were the great Tempelhof airport, power stations and rail communications, the ministry said.

The German-British aerial duel reached new peaks today with Berlin's longest raid alarm of the war, the heaviest bombardment of the German-held "invasion coast" and the nineteenth consecutive night of bombing for London.

The British, in their third successive major night raid on the German capital, reported hits on the great Tempelhof airfield, a munitions factory and a railway yard. Important power stations also were attacked, the air ministry said.

The great naval base of Kiel was even another night target.

When daylight again streaked the channel skies fresh British armen, heavily bundled against the chill, roared off to a new offensive thrust inspired by the constant threat of invasion from the German-held French coast.

Terrific Attack
This daylight assault—45 minutes in which the terrific detonations were heard on the English side as virtually one continuous reverberation—followed a three-hour attack in the light of a pale moon from Boulogne to Dunkerque.

The weather on the English channel may have motivated the intensified British pressure on the "invasion coast." Chippy seas which had rendered impossible any navigation by shallow-draft boats—such as German invaders might use—quieted as the day came on.

R. A. F. night raiders also struck at Germany's Kiel naval base while their foe dumped fresh loads of destruction on rubble-strewn London.

The Nazi raiders took a new path to the British capital, coming up the Thames estuary, instead of by way of "Hell's Corner"—the southeast coast.

The heavily bombed central area of the city, however, had a respite from the intense attacks of previous nights.

The government said fires were started in many parts of the London area, and that only prompt action by firefighters prevented "considerable damage."

The British Press association credited the intensity of the "flaming onion" barrage in northwestern London with keeping the raiders out of the center of the city.

Keefe Tells Willkie State Slighted in New Deal Farm Aids

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Ohio's Republican, has informed Wendell Willkie that Wisconsin farmers have "shared in a very small degree in the benefit program" of the agriculture adjustment administration. He has also told the Republican presidential candidate that the people of Wisconsin strongly favor the development of a "spirit of nationalism."

Keefe's letter to Willkie was sent in response to a request for "any statement on the situation in your state." Willkie, who is to appear in Madison Friday, has written to all the other Republican congressmen from Wisconsin, also, assuring them of his cooperation and inviting suggestions.

"It might be well," Keefe wrote, "to observe that dairying is Wisconsin's greatest agricultural asset. It is unfortunate that milk is not a basic commodity under the AAA and that Wisconsin farmers have, therefore, shared in a very small degree in the benefit program. I believe the figures will indicate that Wisconsin has received approximately $42,000,000 since the advent of the New Deal, as compared to $365,000,000 in the state of Texas. The farm population of Wisconsin is quite definitely anti-Wallace," the congressman continued, "and the election of eight Republican congressmen in 1938 was in large measure due to the fact that Wisconsin people feel that their principal agricultural product has been discriminated against in the reciprocal trade agreement and parity payment program."

Cranberry Crop Value Set at $1,225,000

Wisconsin Rapids —(P)—Vernon M. Goldworthy, manager of the Wisconsin Cranberry Sales Company, said today that the 1940 cranberry crop would bring an income of $1,225,000 to Wisconsin growers.

This sum would be the largest in the history of the Wisconsin industry.

The crop, now being harvested, was estimated at 110,000 barrels, about 8,000 less than the bumper yield of 1937.

Goldworthy said a better price than in 1937 was in prospect.

This year's crop is of good quality, size and color, he reported.

tricts. A communique charged the British with bombing "aimlessly" in residential sections.

Ciano Leaves Rome

Rome —(P)—Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italy's foreign minister and son-in-law of Premier Mussolini, left today for Berlin to conclude diplomatic negotiations which some sources say apparently are intended to bring Spain into the war at the side of the axis powers.

Fascist sources indicated Ciano would take part in three-cornered conversations with Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish minister of government, and German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, who outlined Adolf Hitler's plans to Mussolini and Ciano in Rome last week. (In Berlin, it was believed Ciano would participate in some solemn ceremony of signature; and that Japan as well as Spain figure in the diplomatic activity.)

Ciano's trip to Berlin has been expected ever since Von Ribbentrop left Rome.

"Normal Contact"
The Italian foreign minister's visit was described officially as a "normal contact, but of great importance." An authoritative source said "collaboration" with other countries "which are awaiting an axis victory" would be discussed.

Officials said the axis powers were determined to conduct the war inexorably to victory and to base the new order in Europe on the defense of German and Italian "living spaces" and the exclusion of England from Europe.

The newspaper Il Popolo di Roma, whose editor is regarded as a close friend of Ciano, declared Spain's position seemed to be one of "pre-belligerency," and said that in any event the negotiations were

Declares Teamwork Gravest Defense Need

Broken Bow, Neb., (P)—"Teamwork for agriculture, labor and industry" was advocated today by L. J. Taber, master of the national grange, as America's gravest defense need.

"We must demand that there is no profiteering, no sit down strikes and no slackers in our land," he said in a speech prepared for a farm meeting here. "Every citizen from the humblest to the millionaire must pay taxes in accordance with their ability."

a prelude to "collaboration of Spain and the axis powers" against Britain.

Foreign circles in Rome meanwhile, expressed belief that Japan's relations with the axis powers—heretofore considered "close"—had been strengthened further in a talk between Ciano and the Japanese Ambassador Eiji Amai.

New London Grid Team Ready for Season's Opener

Red and White Will Battle Clintonville In Night Game Friday

New London — With a scrimmage under the lights last night and a tapering off workout this afternoon, the New London High school grid-ers are prepared to open the conference season against Clintonville High school here tomorrow night at 8:15.

And to all appearances, the game will be no pushover for New London. Coach G. M. Charlesworth has been drilling his squad with that in mind. The Trojans have a big and experienced line this year and some able players. Passing offense and defense, mostly the latter, and signal drills have occupied the New London regiment this week.

The starting line-up for the Red and White, who will sport new jerseys and freshly painted white helmets, is still problematical, according to coach Charlesworth. Paul Poepeke, first string backfield man, is nursing a sore arm and Lester Schimke, alternating linemen and back, has a sore ankle.

Backs are scarce with Harold Pucies filling the No. 1 position. If Poepeke is unable to play, Ray Much or Schimke will fill in. Bob Seering and Leon Bodo are expected to complete the backfield.

A new section of bleachers has been added to the south side of the field, now providing four sections. The high school band will play and maneuver between halves of the game and the new cheerleaders will be given an opportunity to show their stuff.

Officials for the game will be Myron Selms and A. C. Denney of Appleton and George Hotchkiss of Oshkosh.

Northport Driver Is Fined $10 for Speeding

New London — Sam Morad, Northport, paid a fine of $10 and costs in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Wednesday morning for speeding in the city. He was arrested Tuesday afternoon after driving too fast on Mill street.

Charge Dismissed in Milk Licenses Case

New London — The case of Milton Koebel, 1815 Nassau street, charged with selling milk in the city without a license in violation of a city ordinance, was dismissed in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Wednesday morning. Koebel pleaded not guilty when arraigned with two others last spring and his case was continued when he was taken ill and entered a Madison hospital. The other two cases were disposed of at that time and the defendants ceased selling milk.

Koebel also was ordered to cease selling milk and was warned the provisions of the city ordinance, upheld by the city council after investigation last spring, will be strictly enforced. The ordinance provides for a fine not to exceed $100, and each day the violation continues is a separate offense.

The arrests were made last spring on complaint of Paul J. Peters, city milk inspector. Koebel was represented in court Wednesday by Attorney Giles H. Putnam and the city Attorney Ormond W. Capener.

Wheeler Wants to Explore Control of U. S. Industries

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—The senate interstate commerce committee has approved the Wheeler resolution to investigate the extent to which German and other foreign interests exert a measure of control over our own defense industries.

Apparently the administration is not overly enthusiastic about this proposal, possibly because it is the idea of Senator Wheeler who was a leading opponent of conscription. Wheeler may not ever ask for a special appropriation now but only for a chance to make a preliminary study with the existing facilities of his committee hoping that on the basis of what he can uncover between now and January he can induce the senate to vote special funds at the next session.

Germany's interest in American industry amounts to many hundreds of millions of dollars, the senate committee report stated. It believes that certain drugs, optical equipment, chemicals, minerals, alloys and other defense materials are subject to control or pressures which investigation may disclose to be inappropriate to the country's defense needs. Only sketchy information is available as to existing conditions but much of that kind of thing was discovered during the first world war.

At that time many key American industries were dominated by German-owned American patents. Optical glass was especially under German control and it was necessary for this government to ask private citizens to contribute field glasses and opera glasses in order to obtain glass for range finders. Eighty per cent of the surgical instrument industry was dominated by German-owned patents and Germany had control of many essential drugs.

The senate committee reported that 20 years ago Germany absolutely dominated the American market on magnetos and for that reason this government was compelled to seize the German Bosch magneto patents and set up an American industry. According to current reference manuals, the committee says, three-fourths of the common stock of the successor magneto company is now held by or in the name of foreign interests, and this firm is now supplying 90 per cent of the parts for the American airplane industry.

In the first world war, enemy-owned property was largely held by the German junker class and a considerable portion was owned by the kaiser and the royal family. Now such property, technically privately owned in Germany, is under nazi decrees, subject completely to the direction of the reich.

Specifications went to German Headquarters.

In the first world war it was found that a large German firm which installed inside railways in American industrial plants, had for 20 years been competing for plant equipment all over the country on plans and specifications which were

Record Attendance Of Postmasters at Sugar Bush Meeting

Waupaca — The largest attendance of county postmasters on record was that of Tuesday evening when the association met at Sugar Bush with Miss Eunice Eisentraut as hostess. Of special interest to the association was the new building recently erected to house this fourth class office.

At the dinner which was served by the women of the Lutheran Ladies Aid society in the basement of the church were Postmaster and Mrs. James Carew, Waupaca; Postmaster and Mrs. Erle Moldenhauer, Clintonville; Postmaster and Mrs. Irving Rieck, Weyauwega; Postmaster and Mrs. Edwin Smith, Wisconsin Veterans' Home; Postmaster and Mrs. V. A. Martin, Amherst; Postmaster and Mrs. Ernest Samson, Manawa; Postmaster and Mrs. H. Buntrock, Embarrass; Postmistress Nan Buhr, Marion; Postmaster Jacob Werner and assistant Bert Haskill of New London; Postmaster and Mrs. John Tovee, Fremont; Postmaster and Mrs. Edwin Peterson, Ogdensburg. Guests were Mrs. Allonsus Brickow, Mrs. Beatrice Thurm and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Eisentraut.

After the dinner the group met at the home of Miss Eisentraut to discuss common problems.

Safety Council Warns Of Fall Driving Perils

The fall of the year is a particularly dangerous time for motorists, the National Safety council points out.

Autumn means earlier darkness. The half-light of evening during the autumn is deceptive—not quite light enough to see clearly, but too light for effective use of head lamps. Pedestrian deaths especially begin to mount during the autumn, the council says, reaching a peak in December.

and personnel give rise to the danger that defense information may go to foreign powers. Accounting reports when exchanged would give vital information as to defense orders. These are some of the matters Senator Wheeler wants to explore.

RITZ BROTHERS IN NEW ONE—"Argentine Nights" starring the Ritz Brothers and the top trio of records and radio the Andrew Sisters will show at the Appleton theater starting Saturday. Constance Moore, George Reeves, Peggy Moran and Anne Nagel are in the supporting cast. "Mystery Sea Raider" starring Carole Landis with Henry Wilcoxon and Onslow Stevens featured is the second picture on this program.

Takes Samples of City Water for Analysis

Waupaca — A representative of the state health department from the Green Bay office spent Wednesday in the city taking samples of the city water which will be analyzed in the interests of the community. While the water has not been condemned, Dr. F. C. Wood, city physician, advises that all drinking water be boiled until further notice.

Badger Incumbents Elated Over Ballot

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—Expressions of elation are evident among Wisconsin congressmen as they continue to receive numerous letters and telegrams congratulating them on their success in the state primary.

Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Algoma Republican, upon his return to congress, this week, said, "I am grateful to the people of my district for the vote of confidence they have given me and assure them that if reelected I shall continue to render the same service I've given them the last two years." "Sincere appreciation," too, is expressed by Congressman Reid F. Murray, Waupaca Republican, for the support given him in the primary.

Congressman Frank B. Keefe, Oshkosh Republican, believes "the people are very definitely desirous of a change in the national administration. The outpouring of Republican votes in Wisconsin clearly demonstrates the Republican party will achieve an overwhelming victory in Wisconsin in November," he says.

Announcing the big NEW 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

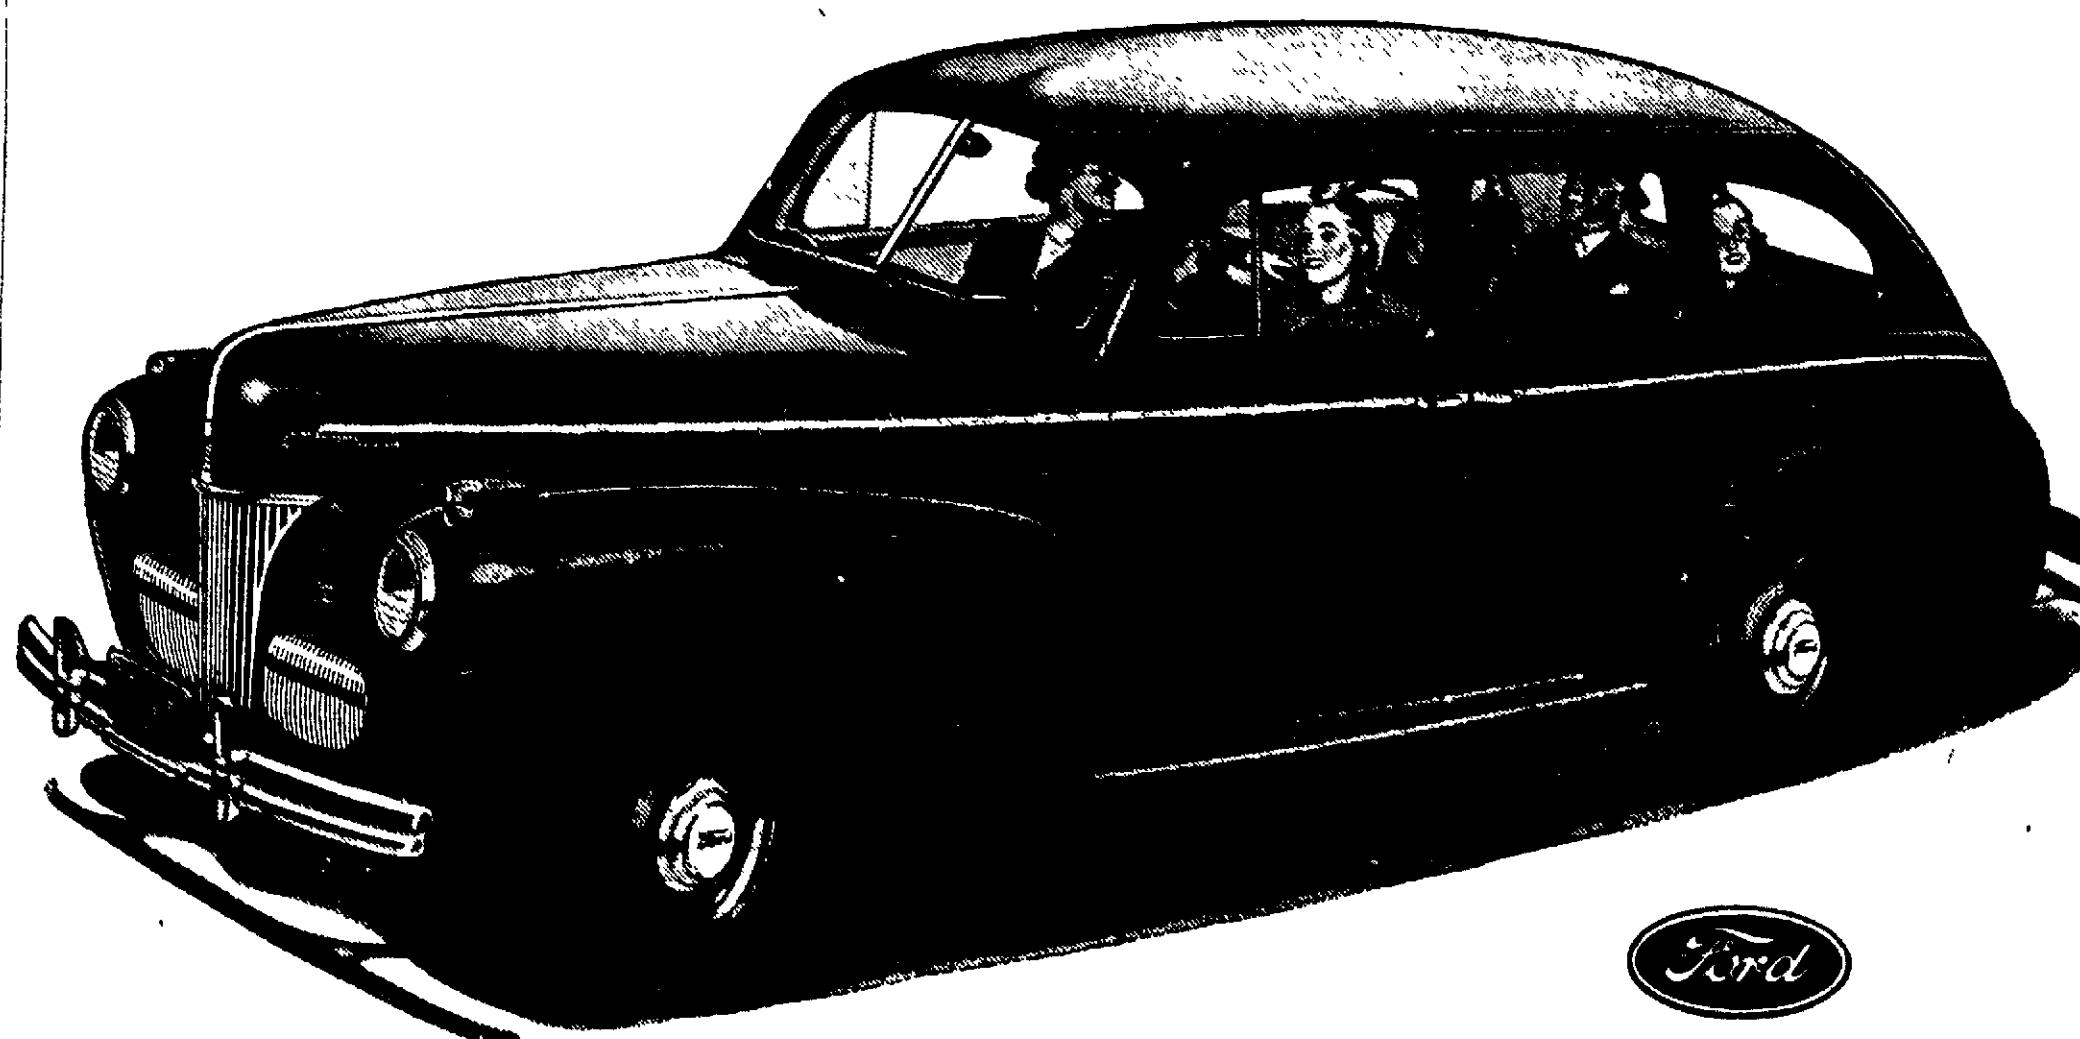

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride. New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even more spirited car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many more good reasons for making this BIG new Ford your 1941 car.

Tigers Near Pennant After Double Victory

Whip Chi Sox
10-9 and 3-2;
Indians Cop

BY JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The American league at last has reached the showdown stage in its furious pennant struggle and the Detroit Tigers are holding all the aces.

Their double victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday—10 to 9 and 3 to 2—was all they needed. They now can eliminate the Cleveland Indians by winning any one of the three games the two teams have with each other this weekend. And they either can brush off the New York Yankees by winning two of them, or they can wait for the world champions to wear themselves out.

The standings today:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.	Games To
Detroit	89	62	.589	3
Cleveland	87	64	.576	2
New York	84	64	.568	3 1/2

It is readily apparent that neither Cleveland nor New York can win except through Detroit losing two games to come down to their level in the lost column. As far as Cleveland is concerned the Tigers must lose three, because whatever they don't lose the Indians will.

It's a Tough Job

The Yankees still could get a tie by winning all their remaining games if Cleveland knocked off the Tigers in two or all three games. In the first case it would be a deadlock with Detroit and in the second with Cleveland.

The champions already have won six in a row, however, and to expect them to win six more in four days is stretching the imagination to the breaking point, even against Philadelphia and Washington.

They have a doubleheader today with the A's while Detroit and Cleveland grid for their final series opening tomorrow in Cleveland.

The Indians kept in the pennant fight yesterday by beating the St. Louis Browns 4-2 as Al Milnar, bested Vernon Kennedy in a hurling duel. Milnar allowed six hits to his rival's seven, but Kennedy lost control of the game in the fourth inning by walking three men and letting in three runs.

The Tigers took two thrillers from the White Sox, who had won 13 of their 20 previous engagements. Buck Newsom got credit for both, bringing his victory total to 21 for the year.

The first game saw-sawed back and forth with the Sox apparently nailing it down in the fifth when they routed Tommy Bridges with a six-run explosion. But the Tigers clawed back courageously, tying up the count in the eighth.

Newsom went to the mound at the start of the ninth, allowed one hit in two innings, and profited when Rudy York doubled with two on in the tenth.

Bobo Comes Back

When big Bobo came right back at the start of the nightcap everyone was surprised. When he gave a triple to Luke Appling and a home run to Larry Rosenthal for two runs in the second inning it looked like a mistake.

Then Buck pitched shutout ball the rest of the way and his mates finally broke through the tight pitching of Johnny Rigney, who allowed only one hit in six innings. This was a double by Finky Higgins that led to a run in the second. Hank Greenberg hit his 41st homer in the seventh, and two singles and a fly by York sent over the winning run in the eighth.

The Cincinnati Reds divided a doubleheader with the St. Louis Cardinals, taking the first game 5-0 with Junior Thompson pitching magnificent two-hit ball. However, Johnny Mize notched his 42nd home run to lead the Redbirds to a 4-3 decision over Bucky Walters in the second game, even though Walters allowed only eight hits, four less than the Reds made.

The Chicago Cubs captured both ends of a twin bill from the Pittsburgh Pirates and moved within one game of fourth place in the National league. In the first game Bill Lee and Rip Sewell duelled for eleven innings before Stan Hack's double upset Sewell so badly he walked in the winning run. The score was 2 to 1. The Cubs crowded five runs into the seventh inning of the nightcap to triumph 6-4.

The other four big league games were rained out.

Tilden Encounters Little Trouble in Quest for Pro Title

Chicago—(P)—Bill Tilden, whose tennis trophies would fill a lot of empty space, was encountering little trouble in his quest for the current national professional championship.

Tilden, whose activity on the courts belie his 47 years, yesterday teamed with a younger net veteran, Vincent Richards, to beat William Kenney of Newport, R. I., and Ken Napier of Phoenix, Ariz., and land a semi final spot in the doubles.

Back on the courts today Tilden engages Joseph Whalen of Larchmont Shores, N. Y., in a quarter final singles match. A second quarter-

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

The much maligned and kidded folks over in the old Fourth ward, now getting to be known as the south siders, are doing things for their youngsters.

Last night the South Side Athletic club, organized about a year ago and making astonishing progress ever since under the direction of Jake Skall as president and an active group of officers and workers, dedicated a new lighted sports field just across the street from McKinley school grounds.

The dedication feature was a football game in which the club's Blue Eagles literally chased the St. Mary school team back across the river. The youngsters were a tricky group of lads who worked triple reverses and forward passes of various and sundry kinds like pro league champions. They scored three times in the first quarter and twice that we recall in the second.

It was a smooth-working group of lads who had learned well under the direction of Ralph Barfell, former Lawrence griddler. It was their third or fourth game and one of the few where they didn't have to battle a big weight handicap.

But while the football game was the feature and it brought out a huge crowd of youngsters and older folks, the thought back of the field was what really counted.

As we said, the club was organized about a year ago to help promote athletics and sports for the youngsters in the old Fourth ward. Membership is $1 and it was surprising the way workers soon had a nest egg for the group to work with.

Betty Jameson Is Favored to Retain Crown

Dominates Field as Strong Challengers Fall by Wayside

BY ROBERT MYERS

Del Monte, Calif. —(P)—Defending Champion Betty Jameson remained the favorite of most observers to retain the national women's amateur golf crown as play moved into the quarter-finals stage over the Pebble beach course today.

The sturdy, deliberate San Antonio, Texas, miss, apparently gaining momentum in her drive to capture the title a second year in a row, dominated the surviving eight after a day that brought the downfall of several strong challengers and the advance of a contingent of golfing surprises.

Blonde Betty met Mrs. Gregg Liffur of Los Angeles, former California state champion and a veteran tournament player.

The young Texan reached today's rest after edging out Mary Agnes Wall, Moenunee, Mich., one up, and polishing off Mary Moezel Wagner, Portland, Ore., 5 and 4. Mrs. Wagner had eliminated Elizabeth Hicks, of Long Beach, Calif., in the morning round in a 3 and 1 upset.

Here's the battle register for today's quarter-final round:

Upper half—Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D., versus Jane Cothran, Greenville, S. C., and Mrs. James Ferris, Pasadena, Calif., versus Mary Morse, Pebble Beach.

Lower half—Clara Callender, Long Beach, Calif., versus Mrs. Willard Shepherd, Los Angeles, and Miss Jameson versus Mrs. Liffur.

Gene Thompson, Reds, and Johnny Mize, Cardinals—Former pitched two-hit shutout in first game, and latter hit his 42nd home run to help win second session.

Al Milnar, Indians—Stopped Browns with six-hit pitching.

Stan Hack and Verne Olsen, Cubs—Former figured in both Chicago's scoring plays in winning first game, and latter pitched and batted Cubs to victory over Pirates in nightcap, knocking two runs around with a double.

Packers Fear Chicago Cards; Tinsley Back

Former Louisiana State End Is Great Receiver of Passes

Green Bay—Mid-week in practice finds the Green Bay Packers still taking off the rough spots for their all-important national league game Sunday with the Cardinals of Chicago at State Fair park in Milwaukee. Gridiron. hostilities will start promptly at 2 p. m.

Although the Green Bay club scored two wins over the Cards last year, both were by narrow margins and well does the Lambeau crew know that the outfit now coached by Jimmy Conzelmann has a passing attack and a ground game that is dangerous and effective.

In 1939 the home-and-home series produced Packer victories of 14 to 10 and 21 to 20 over the Chicago "red birds." Coach Conzelmann, handling the Cardinals for the first time this season, has added a lot of new material to bolster the 1939 aggregation and the new life in the outfit promises to put out a lot of "surprises" to its foes this year.

Tinsley Is Back

Green Bay followers will remember the star Cardinal wingman, Gaynell Tinsley, late of Louisiana State, who is beginning his third term with Chicago. Fleet of foot and a powerful runner and defensive end, Tinsley is one of the National league's best pass receivers and the records prove it. He was picked as an all-league end in his first year with the Cards and in that season he gained a total of 675 yards.

Packer fans attending the "Cream City" tilt this weekend also will see another familiar face, that of Herman Schneidman, the Iowa quarterback who played five seasons with the Green Bay Packers. He joined the Redbirds several weeks ago. Schneidman is a seasoned field general and Coach Conzelmann expects that the Pro league veteran will fit well into a club which is composed largely of rookies.

The 1940 Cardinal roster is well filled with other gridiron "greats" who promise to give the Packers a busy afternoon, the imposing array including the all-American Charles "Ki" Aldrich, the famous center from Texas Christian; Marshall Goldberg, the Pittsburgh back who was "all-America" three years in succession, and Josepa Beiner, Notre Dame tackle.

The project should be an incentive to other persons interested in playgrounds and directed recreation, and to those persons who haven't been enthusiastic about such a program, well, if they'll take the trouble to investigate its activities, it will be something that make them reconsider and ponder its possibilities.

Carroll Griddler Out With Injury to Ribs

Waukesha — (P)—Coach Johnny Breen of Carroll announced yesterday that Harold Stanger, of Oak Park, had a rib separation as a result of last week's game with Milwaukee Teachers. He will not be able to play against Illinois Wesleyan Saturday.

Douglas Boque, of Portage, was assured of the regular right guard spot because of his play last week. Breen drilled his men in passing and ball handling in an effort to correct errors that cost Carroll the Milwaukee Teachers game.

Little Chute — The Lox Mill league, with an entry of eight teams, has the Giants perched in first place with five wins and a lone loss. High scores topped this week include Dan Williams with a 236 singleton, followed by Gib Trentlage with 226 and Jack Strick with 217. Bob Heiss hit 565 for high individual series with a three pin handicap, followed by Ery Feldhahn with a 562 triple, bowling scratch, and Art Tyrrell walloped 560 with a 19-pin handicap. Lions scored high team game with 961 while Giants walloped 2,665 for team series honors.

Vikings Leave Friday Morning For Grid Opener

Meet Grinnell, Ia., In Saturday Night Midwest Loop Battle

Twenty-three Lawrence college football players, Coach Bernie Heseltun and Manager Charles Hobbs of Fond du Lac will leave here Friday morning for Grinnell, Iowa, where on Saturday night they meet Grinnell in a Midwest conference game. The Pioneers, fresh from the Missouri Valley conference, are expected to present too much for Lawrence with their big squad. Replacements are expected to make the difference, with Grinnell having them for all positions and the Vikes only in the backfield.

The final Lawrence workout will be conducted at Spencer street ball park under the lights tonight, the first time any Lawrence team has even practiced under lights. The forthcoming encounter not only is a Lawrence ace light debut but also the first time that Lawrence and Grinnell have met in football.

Neither coach has had a chance to scout the other so neither team knows what to expect. Both Heseltun and Bon Douglas, the latter at Grinnell for his first year, established prep school coaching records before moving to their new assignments. Douglas was at Maplewood, Mo.

Lawrence Lineup

Others making the trip will be: Center, John Roddy, Chicago; guard, Warren Buesing, Appleton; tackle, Herbert Kierchoff, Chicago; end, Larry Henkes, Racine; backs, Bill Cressett, Racine; Robert Osen, DePere; Clyde Rhodos, Mooseheart, Ill.; and Boyden Supiano, Racine.

Four others will be chosen on Thursday night from the following: Guards, Clayton Jackson, Wauwatosa, and Eugene Pope, Marinette; tackles, James Benn, Chicago, and Ralph Colvin, Appleton; ends, Robert Perry, Milwaukee; Hegge, Chicago; and James Slauson, Wauwatosa; backs, Gerald Grady, Port Washington; Paul Meyers, Milwaukee; and Loren Smith, Madison.

Industrial Softballers Will Discuss Banquet

St. John Primed For Kimberly

Dutchmen Have Hopes Of Avenging Defeat Suffered by 1939 Team

Little Chute — St. John high gridriders are getting in extra licks these days in preparation for the jaunt to Kimberly Friday night when they meet Kimberly high Papermakers. The tilt promises to be a battle royal with no love lost between the two schools. The locals also will be gunning for a reversal of last season's score when the Papermakers won.

This season St. John has a good chance of bringing home a victory with only two of last season's regulars lost. Their places have been filled by two capable newcomers in Jerry Hietpas and Jimmy Vanden Heuvel, both tall lads and excellent pass receivers. The backfield is intact with Woody Mc Cabe at quarterback, Jimmy Koehn and Cletus Hurst at halfback and Vanden Heuvel at fullback. Owen Wilander and Ray Koss will show at tackle berths, Kenney Hurst and Simons at guard and Van Grinsven at center.

Backfield coach Al Boots has been stressing hard blocking and tackling with other workouts on pass defense. Coach Marty De Bruin has the line in tiptop shape. It held the strong Edgewood high well last Sunday, costly fumbles being responsible for three of the five touchdowns scored against it. The other two were on passes.

PREPPING FOR LITTLE CHUTE—Kimberly High school gridriders will tangle with the folks from across the river Friday night at Kimberly. The "folks" will be St. John of Little Chute and as usual it will be a grudge battle. Judging from the photos above, Kimberly will take to the air in more than one way. At the top, James Smiths, a right half, is up in the air pitching a left handed pass. The other picture shows Carl Lemmers, a far-reaching quarterback just as he grabbed a forward pass. (Post-Crescent Photos.)

Ray George, Tackle Ends Pro Grid Career

Philadelphia — (P)—Big Ray George, tackle for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional Football league has decided to end his playing days.

Bert Bell, Eagle president, disclosed a letter from George stating "I have lost interest in playing football, so I figure I might as well give it up." The former Southern California ace played with the Detroit Lions before coming here.

Cardinals Beat Bears, 21 to 7

Take Opening Kickoff and Drive 61 Yards

Chicago.—The National Football league settled back today to enjoy its usual rough and tumble tilt campaign now that Chicago's Cardinals have proved that the Chicago Bears are not as invincible as their rout of Green Bay might have indicated.

The Cards, deciding a licking was the best method of demonstrating the Bears' vulnerability, did just that by a decisive 21 to 7 score last night.

It was the Cards' first triumph over the Bears since 1936 and dealt a severe jolt to the championship aspirations of the northsiders, whose title hopes soared following the 41 to 10 defeat of Green Bay's champions Sunday.

It also was the Cards' first victory of the 1940 season, although they had tried twice before only to wind up in ties with Pittsburgh and Detroit.

Furthermore, it was quite a vote of confidence for Jimmy Conzelman, new Card coach, in his Chicago debut.

After taking the first kickoff the Cardinals drove 61 yards, Hugh McCullough tossing to John Hall for 25 yards and a touchdown.

A bit later, Lloyd Madsen, a youngster up from the Colorado School of Mines, got loose for 62 yards to put the Cards in position for their second score, Marshall Goldberg going over from the seven.

The final touchdown started with an interception of a Bear pass and ended with McCullough throwing 10 yards across the goal to Gaynell Tinsley.

The Bears' only marker came in the second period when Harry Clark ran and rolled his way over from eight yards out. The Cards stopped two other threats on the seven and eight yard lines.

The Cards and Cleveland now remain the western division's only undefeated clubs. Sunday the Cards came in for another big test when they face Green Bay at Milwaukee.

Blues and Colonels

Will Play Day Games

Kansas City.—The Kansas City Blues and Louisville Colonels jumped back into the American association final playoff series today after cold weather kept them off the diamond last night.

With the mercury tumbling into the 40's after dark, the teams scheduled today's and tomorrow's games for 3 p. m. CST.

The Blues planned to use Johnny Landell or Charles Stange on the mound against Charley Wagner of Louisville in the second game of the series. Louisville nabbed the opener 9 to 4.

Blue Eagles Maul St. Mary

Score 58 to 6 Win In Dedication Tilt At McKinley Field

Hitting on all cylinders, S. S. A. C. Blue Eagles steamed to a 58 to 6 victory over a fighting St. Mary eleven in the initial game under the new McKinley playground lights. The game was a feature of the dedication program. The Blue Eagles displayed everything in the books, including neat passes, hard line smashes, deceptive reverses and sweeping end runs, as they rolled up their decisive score.

Selig scored three touchdowns. Eichinger counted two, Brandt two and Schrimpt two. The four points after touchdowns were registered on passes to J. Quella, Kiser, Schrimpt and Brandt. Van Rossum was outstanding on the throwing end of passes while all the boys took care of their blocking assignments in veteran fashion. St. Mary scored on a net 25-yard play.

The Eagles will meet the Pierce Park Pirates at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and the Kimberly gradates at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening under the lights.

The Blue Eagles will work out tonight under the lights immediately after the junior team completes its practice, which gets underway at 6 o'clock. The senior squad also will drill at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

Little Chute Keglers

Defeat Appleton Team

Little Chute.—In a special bowling match between the Adler Braus of Appleton and Frank's Specials of this village, the local keggers rattled a 2,911 team series to 2,718 to cop the match. Frank's Specials followed by Frankie Van Dalen of Niagara, New York, who is visiting here. He kegged a 618 triple, followed by Rich Ebben with 617. Jerry Lamers showed 596, Cooney Hinkens a 545 and Frank Weyenberg a 535. Van Dalen was a member of the Wolfe Tire team which copped the A.B.C. meet at Syracuse in 1935. His highest game last night was 235 while Ebben hit 221.

Oscar Kunitz paced the Adler Braus with a 608 total, followed by Frank Fries with 590, Heinie Strutz showed 528, Ray Crane 518, and Frank Yelg 474.

Oakland, Calif.—Baby Arizmendi, 1344, Mexico, and Jackie Callura, 128, New York, drew (10).

Odds Swing to Comiskey but Writer Still Favors Maxie

BY SID FEDER

Jersey City, N. J.—Accompanied by a tidal wave of rumors, a flood of money on Pat Comiskey hit the betting fronts here and across the Hudson in New York today, less than 12 hours before the Paterson Irishman tangles with Max Baer.

One betting commissioner estimated $100,000 of Comiskey money suddenly had appeared as a result, the odds on the tussle in the local ball park immediately jumped in favor of the big-jawed kid with the solid right hand, establishing him as choice at 3 to 7 or 8.

Most of the folks in the know, however, guffawed at the talk of "something doing" which buzzed all along Bash boulevard as a result of this show of "business" on the bout, they pointed out (1) Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, are reported to have bet more than $10,000, themselves, on Maxie to win; (2) Baer has a contract to appear in a Broadway show, hinging on his victory in this 15-round brawl, and (3) although the ex-playboy champion is, as always, the question mark of fistiana, and that not even he knows how he'll feel when he climbs into the ring about 8 p. m. (C. S. T.), he still regards pouncing Pat as a "fresh young punk" to be flattened.

Baer on Spot.

The "question mark," however, is a cinch to be changed tonight either to a period, or an exclamation point. With an expected crowd of 20,000 to 25,000 looking on, the one-time heavyweight king is right on the spot. If he loses, you can pack him back in mothballs, he'll be as completely done as burnt toast. If he wins, he has, in addition to the aforementioned Broadway show, a chance to pick up some loose change fighting not-too-tough competition around and about.

Despite all the whispers, I like Baer to turn the trick, say inside of eight rounds.

Jack Dempsey is refereeing the bout, and, as a passing thought, it might be pointed out the old Manassa Mauler is handling this job just 13 years to the day since the famous "long count" in Chicago when a referee showed how 10 seconds can be 14.

The fight will not be broadcast.

Attempts for an efficiency average of .678, heads the passing department. Davey O'Brien of Philadelphia has the most completions—26—but he has passed 58 times, dropping his efficiency average to .448. He also had six losses intercepted, while Baugh has yet to drop one into a defender's arms.

League headquarters announced the attendance for the first nine games totaled 192,000, an average increase of 2,400 over that for the same number of games last year.

Don Looney Is New Pro Star

New York.—The famed Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers has a dangerous rival in the quest for pass-receiving honors in the National Pro Football league this fall, statistics released today reveal.

Don Looney, Philadelphia Eagle rookie end from Texas, Christian has nabbed 15 passes for a total of 240 yards. Hutson has caught seven for 118 yards. Looney has registered four touchdowns, three on passes, and his 24 points give him the league scoring lead.

A league record was tied for the second successive week when Johnny Drake of Cleveland scored three touchdowns last Sunday to equal a mark previously attained by 15 other players in league history.

The veteran Tuffy Leemans of the New York Giants is setting the ground-gaining pace with 131 yards in 33 attempts, although for average yardage he is well down the list. In that department Merlyn Condit of Pittsburgh, with an average gain of 83 yards in 13 attempts, heads the field, Parker Hall of Cleveland is a close second, averaging eight yards in 11 efforts.

Washington's Sammy Baugh, completing 10 tosses out of 28 at-

Waupaca to Close Up For First H. S. Grid Game in Twenty Years

Waupaca—High school boys who never saw a football game until this fall will participate in one without having seen one played here Friday afternoon. That's how suddenly football has come to Waupaca High school where the sport was abolished 20 years ago.

Since last spring Waupaca has acquired an excellent football field and a $6,000 WPA project to develop it. The school board made an end around play against Old Man Budget and set aside $800 which bought uniforms. The townspeople, who have been talking football the last two or three years, endorsed return of the gridiron sport. Money-raising schemes were backed by the Association of Commerce, Lions and Jaces.

This fall 35 green kids climbed into uniform and have been training for three weeks under direction of Coach Leroy Haberkorn and his three assistants. Friday this new machine — which has never been tested in actual combat—will open against Manawa's Wolves in a Tri-County league game.

Coach Haberkorn is filled with trepidation—cold feet to you—and wavers between confidence and worry. If his boys, who have shown real fire and dash and enthusiasm in practice, go out Friday and do what they can do there'll be a good ball game and maybe, if the gridiron gods smile, a Waupaca victory. If the boys go out there, get spunky and forget all they've learned the past three weeks—well, that "it" is what makes Haberkorn roll and toss at night.

A measure of the community's enthusiasm is shown by the fact nearly 200 Waupaca business houses will close Friday afternoon during the game. The high school band will lead a Main street parade out to the ball park. A new field house, product of WPA, will be ready for use the day of the game. A civic athletic board has taken over ticket sales this fall, with half the proceeds going to the school's activity fund, half to the athletic board's treasury in a fund to buy field lights for night football. In a town where baseball is quiescent and high school basketball a dreary experience in a drafty downtown armory, football has taken the public fancy.

Haberkorn, who came to the school this fall, is a bit thrilled at the enthusiasm of his squad, of the businessmen, civic groups and everyone else. Looking forward to a hard schedule in the Tri-County league, playing Kimberly, Omro, Pulaski, Marion, and Manawa, the coach will tell you he is appreciative of all this civic backing, hopeful that it will outlive the errors and disappointments inevitable when a full schedule is handed a school which last played the game in 1920.

Shawano Meets West DePere in Opening Battle

Shawano — The Shawano High school Indians, anxious for their first taste of action on the 1940 gridiron, will be at home to West DePere here Friday afternoon to raise the curtain on the season in the Western division of the Northwestern Wisconsin conference.

Because their game with Menominee, designed as a pre-conference test, was cancelled at the last minute last week, the Indians have had an abnormally long practice period without an actual game. Billy Reed, star halfback for the last three years and a unanimous all-conference choice for the last two, will again lead the Indians into battle. Reed is 10 pounds heavier and will be in his usual triple-threat position. Lyle Berton, another all-conference back last year, is expected to do great things on the ground this year.

Three other veterans are available for the starting backfield, with Coach Clifford Dilts indicating that he will use Rog Cantwell at quarter and either Jerry Doan or Rolau Gauthier at full. Cantwell and Doan alternated at blocking back last season with Gauthier showing drive as fullback.

With the line heavy but not particularly experienced, bulky Bob Schwerts will be the mainstay of the line at center, with two other lettermen — Jim Anderson, an end, and Guard Frank Tich — to keep him company. A large assortment of weighty boys are available for the other spots, with the probability that big Jack Ranalla and Hugo Pahlow at tackles, Dean Hanson in the other guard spot, and Harvey Priem at right end.

Badger Gridders Show New Spirit

Madison — (4) — The University of Wisconsin football squad, which demonstrated little or no offensive skill in drills Monday and Tuesday, has reinstated itself as a fighting aggregation.

Making up for the poor showing earlier this week, the first team scored four touchdowns yesterday against a defensive eleven composed of third and fourth string men. Two of the counters were made by George Paskvan, of La Grange, Ill., senior fullback. He ran 60 yards for one, and plunged from the 1-yard mark for the other.

Hadley Hoskins of Lancaster, promising sophomore left halfback, countered from the six yard stripe, and then Don Miller, of Dixon, Ill., matched it with another touchdown on a 76-yard run.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher, who was pleased with Hoskins' showing, said the youth might be shifted to right half to determine whether he operates equally well at that spot.

Chips Down in N. S. Circuit

Winners of Sunday's Seymour-Manitowoc Game to Take Bunting

Seymour—The chips are on the table and the baseball battle of the season so far as the followers of the Northern State league is concerned will be staged here Sunday afternoon between Bill Row's aggregation of diamond knights and the hard hitting outfit from Manitowoc.

The teams have one victory apiece in the title series and both squads will be gunning for the decisive victory with everything they have got. There is little to choose between the championship rivals and "breaks" may settle the location of the 1940 pennant pole.

Manitowoc took the opening encounter two weeks ago thanks to Catcher Querin Simon who poked one over the garden wall in the ninth stanza to settle the argument 2-1. Last Sunday in the morning argument at Green Bay, Seymour evened the count with a 3-2 victory. The Ships had a wobbly day on the field and their six misuses kept them in hot water continually.

Expectations of heavy hitting in the championship playoff have not been realized as the opposing pitchers, Larry Roek of Seymour and George Hesik of Manitowoc have pretty well handcuffed the swat-smiths. Seymour has pounded out nine safe blows in the two contests while the Shipbuilders have connected for 12 bingles.

Maybe the heavy artillery will start booming on the Seymour war-front this weekend.

Cool Weather Helps Gophers

Squad Improves as Temperatures Drop; Wolves Flying West

Chicago — (4) — Maybe the weather man will step in and help Bernie Bierman's Minnesota football team in the Gophers' season opener against the University of Washington Saturday.

The Gophers apparently thrive on the cooler brand of weather and it probably will be all right with Bierman if chilly blasts from Medicine Hat, Alberta, drift on Memorial Stadium by game time.

The cooler weather this week showed its effect on the Gophers and yesterday there was a noticeable improvement as the squad ran through its paces smoothly in temperatures in the low fifties.

But Bierman wasn't ready to announce his starting lineup for the intercollegiate clash. He did say that three backfield men definitely were going to start against the Huskies: Bruce Smith at left half; George Switzer at right half; and Bob Sweiager at full.

Michigan's squad of 35, en route by planes for an intercollegiate curtain raiser at Berkeley against California, planned a workout today at Salt Lake City. Coach Francis Schmidt emphasized timing of plays and smoothness in execution of blocking assignments as he eased up on his Ohio State squad preparatory to the Pittsburgh clash Saturday.

Mal Elward was keeping a close watch on the play of three sophomores whom he probably will use in Purdue's opener with Butler. Bruce Warren, tackle candidate, might get some punting assignments, and Ewell O'Bryan and Walter Cook appeared ready for tackle and backfield duties, respectively. Indiana will be without Eddie Herbert, senior blocking back from Gary, this season. The veteran of two years' play suffered a broken cartilage in his right knee.

Iowa had its last day of double practice sessions yesterday and went through what probably will be its last scrimmage before the opening game Oct. 5. Bob Zuppke's comment on his Illinois squad after the first stringers won a 7-0 game from the No. 2 team: "The blocking is much better, but they're still making mistakes on offense."

Fullback Jack Soper who had been idle for a week with a pulled muscle, returned to the Northwestern squad yesterday. Wisconsin's varsity tallied four touchdowns against reserves. Fullback George Paskvan went over twice.

Others who will make the trip and are expected to see action are Bruce Brown, Everett Glocke, Bill Thoma, Clarence Dain Pat Conroy and Malcolm Russell, ends; Gordon Barrington, Tom Schider, Ronald Herman and Leland Smith, tackles; Louis Haas, Charles Roland, Norman Buchholz and Lawrence Kieplinski, guards; DuWayne Weckworth, center; John Amador, James Beyer, Mayford Kosmarchock, Paul Smith, Bob Everts, backs.

Swiston is expected to start a light but shifty backfield composed of three veterans and one freshman. The lettermen are Dean Barrington, quarterback, Bob Barrington, fullback, both juniors, and Floyd Esche, senior left halfback. The first year man is James Beyer, who has shown great promise at the blocking back post.

M.U. Gridders Drill On Field Goal Kicking

Milwaukee — (4) — Coaches Red Dunn and Faddy Driscoll, place kickers of the old school, supervised a session of field goal kicking at Marquette yesterday with Bobby Kemnitz, Jack Pfeiffer and Bob Dams booting.

Bill Phillips was back in the lineup along with Harvey Bearwald as the regulars went through dummy scrimmage preparatory to today's battle with the Frosh.

Ducks Unlimited To be Described At Oshkosh Meet

Post-Crescent Oshkosh bureau

Oshkosh — As a prelude to the duck hunting season which opens Tuesday, Oct. 1, in this area, hunters of the Fox river valley are displaying interest in a meeting which will be held at Oshkosh at 7:30 Friday evening at the American Legion clubhouse.

Sportsmen from Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Winchester and other surrounding communities have been invited to attend this pre-hunting session at Oshkosh at which Arthur M. Bartley of Ducks Unlimited, Canada, will be the principal speaker.

Bartley will discuss Ducks Unlimited, an international duck conservation association, and will describe the efforts of this group to preserve and provide ample duck breeding grounds and waters throughout western Canada.

Bartley will show movies of the work done in the area of service in Canada by Ducks Unlimited. The movies will be augmented with still pictures of the same work.

An increase in the number of hunting licenses issued at the office of Arthur E. Hedke, Winnebago county clerk, proves an increasing interest among hunters this year.

Engineers Will Estimate Costs Of New Airport

Aviation Committee Hires Menasha Firm To Work on Two Sites

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — The aviation committee of the Winnebago county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon selected the A. E. McMahon Engineering company of Menasha to prepare cost estimates on the sites proposed for a county-owned airport.

Only two sites are being considered. They are the present Oshkosh airport and its surrounding lands and a site at the southwest corner of the intersection of county trunks J and JJ in the town of Oshkosh, the latter four miles north of the city. The site near the Old Glory farm on county trunks A and GG in the town of Vinland, which was proposed by a group of Neenah residents, and the site near Winneconne have been rejected by aviation committee because of the high cost in leveling the lands and their distance from a city.

The McMahon company will make profile maps of the runways, showing the rises in land and the drainage, and will furnish the committee with estimates as to the cost of leveling and preparing the sites for an airport. The committee yesterday rejected the idea of having topographical maps made of the two sites as the cost for such maps would be double the money allotted the committee.

Mr. McMahon told the committee that he expected it would take 10 days at the most to complete his findings and make a report. The committee will then call for a special meeting of the county board which will be held in the middle of October. They prefer to decide the airport situation at a special meeting rather than at the annual November session.

The committee yesterday also decided to secure 30-day options on each piece of preparing the two proposed locations. The cost for land alone for the present Oshkosh airport site totals $75,073.12, of which $33,000 is for the airport land alone and the remainder in adjoining lands which the committee must purchase to make a Class III airport.

The total cost of the farm lands in the site north of the city of Oshkosh at county trunks J and JJ is set at $73,270. The site near the Old Glory farm on county trunk A would cost about $59,600, and the Winneconne site figure is around $32,000, the committee announced. More land would be needed at the Winneconne site which would run that cost still higher.

The committee's estimate as to the cost to construct the four runways at each site is $144,833.15 for the present airport site and $162,250 for the location north of the city of Oshkosh. The committee hopes to get a federal national defense grant which would approximate four-fifths of the cost for the runways. The grant could not be secured until the airport is purchased.

Scouting Builds Character, Trains Citizens, Kiwanis Told

Neenah — Building character and training for citizenship are the final objectives of scouting, C. H. Engberg, Appleton, Valley Council scouts executive, told the Neenah Kiwanis club at the noon meeting Wednesday at the Valley Inn.

There are other objectives, including recreation, instilling self-reliance and progress, he declared, pointing out that scouting is institutional and not an organization. The Valley Council simply is a service station, a clearing office for the troops.

Stating that scouting is run entirely by volunteers, Engberg told the Kiwanians that the scout program is designed to teach the boys ideals and brotherhood, and this program needs trained leaders to put across the program. The program is life-like, for the boys can do the things they like, and it offers a relationship between man and boy. It recognizes the difference in mental status in boys, giving the scouts opportunity to advance at their own rate of speed, encouraging but not pushing them.

Asserting that the training boys receive in scouting often has determined their life work and that there are 106 subjects open to scouts in which they can find a life interest, a hobby or get a smattering of information which may do some good, Engberg pointed out that some of the activities may seem to have no practical use, but they actually are preparing the boys for an emergency, teaching them to think for themselves. They learn first aid, for instance, and it is known that 22,000 lives have been saved by boy scout work.

The secretary thanked the club for building one of the six new cabins at Gardner dam, and he outlined the camp to them.

Scouting has gone rural, the leader contended. There are 40 towns in the council area large enough to sponsor troops but only 30 of them have troops. "We are trying to spread scouting into the rural communities," he said, "to give the boys in rural districts the same opportunity as the boys living in cities."

City Clerk H. S. Zemlock reported that an effort is being made to get 100 per cent registration. He urged voters to register during office hours from 8 o'clock in the morning until noon and from 12:30 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Pointing out that it takes less than two minutes to register, the clerk said that all voters have to do is sign their names to the registration card twice and answer a few questions, such as "Are you a citizen of the United States?" a resident of Wisconsin for one year?" a resident of the ward for 10 days?" and will be 21 years of age on or before Nov. 6?"

Persons who haven't voted since November, 1938, will automatically be registered for two more years by voting this fall. There are about 1,000 persons in Neenah in this class and they will receive notification.

Record New Peak in State Old Age Pension Program

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—With a new high total of old age pensions attained in Wisconsin during August, the case load of the old age assistance program promises to remain permanently higher than the general relief case load in the state, public welfare department statistics published here today indicate.

The pension case load exceeded the total number of relief grants for the first time three months ago. Since that time the general relief load has steadily declined, while the old age assistance program has as steadily mounted upward in total expenditures and cases.

Today the old age pension program has passed the 52,000 mark. At the beginning of September there were 52,066 cases on the rolls, while relief cases had sagged to 41,425.

Total amount of general relief granted during August was $897,093. During the same period $1,176,873 was expended for the aid of the old age pensioners.

$22.60 Average

The average old age pension paid in the state during August was $22.60. The case load and the average payments in the northeastern Wisconsin counties are shown as follows:

County	Case Load	Average
Brown	639	$19.28

Manitowish	626	20.31
Waupaca	624	21.47
Winnebago	850	22.31

Beloit's Council of Defense Membership Increases to 13,000

Beloit—(P)—Enrollment in the Beloit Council of Defense, the purpose of which is patriotic service, reached 13,000 today in this city of 23,000 population.

Since Monday night, volunteer staffs have manned the city's polling places to accept memberships. The campaign ends tonight.

The movement had its inception last summer, when a group of war veterans and civic minded residents met to consider means to promote patriotic activity. The Beloit Council of Defense was evolved and Colonel Robert P. Robinson, a veteran of the World war, was named president.

The council will sponsor the showing of movies dwelling on Americanism in the city schools and at various meetings; provide speakers for all manner of meetings; arrange celebrations for the national guard and draft units soon to leave for camp, and conduct service work for the men called to the colors.

Its spokesmen said it provided the machinery by which national interest could be served in whatever capacity, either peace time or war-time, necessity may require.

State Traffic Police Holding 2-Day School

Madison—(P)—Forty-five officers of the state traffic patrol met here today for a 2-day school of instruction on traffic control.

The conference was called by George W. Rickeman, commissioner of the state motor vehicle department.

Dane county officers discussed traffic problems at today's session. Captain James H. Hayes, field representative of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, will address the meeting tomorrow.

Communist Party Stays On Michigan Ballots

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—The state supreme court refused today to bar the Communist party of Michigan from a place on the general election ballots.

Prosecutor Charles L. Wilson, of Pontiac, had sued for a writ of mandamus to restrain the department of state from certifying the names of Communist candidates to the ballots on grounds that they ran under the banner of an un-American organization.

Every Third Relief Dollar Spent for Food

Next Largest Item On State Bill Is Paid for Shelter

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Exactly one third of every dollar spent for general relief in Wisconsin during the last fiscal year—about $15,000,000—was spent for food, a breakdown of public relief financing made public here today showed.

According to the state public welfare department, 33 per cent of the relief dollar was represented in the purchase of groceries for relief clients.

The next largest chunk of the relief dollar is paid for shelter, about 22 per cent, while administrative costs of the relief program, including determination and redetermination of need, and the various services given to relief clients, requires 11 per cent of the total relief outlay.

Other Disbursements

Fuel and public utilities took about 9.7 per cent, 5 1/2 per cent was paid in the form of cash, usually as wages on local work projects, while hospitalization, medical and dental care require slightly more than 10 per cent.

At present the state government is bearing about 11 per cent of the cost of financing the general relief load in the state, or an amount about equal to the administrative cost of the program. The local units of government are thus shown to be supporting the actual relief expenditures out of their own tax funds.

Public assistance commitments in Wisconsin, including expenditures for non-relief labor, materials, and equipment on work projects, administration, and assistance payments and grants totalled almost $25,000,000 during the last quarter, state officials estimate.

Of the total the state government paid 59.8 per cent, local units of government 32.1 per cent, and the state 8 per cent.

Johns Wants Badger Apples and Cherries On U. S. Army Menu

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—An effort to include Wisconsin apples and cherries in the diet of the United States army is now being made by Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Algoma Republican.

The congressman, in a letter to Major J. J. Powers, in charge of the subsistence division of the war department, stated that in Wisconsin, "we produce some of the finest apples and cherries produced in the world. We have an abundance of them, and we would like to have these articles placed on the same status as grapefruit, oranges and pineapple juice."

Johns suggested the use of apple and cherry juice, too, in addition to the entire fruit.

Farmers Busy Filling Silos in Leeman Area

Leeman—(P)—Silo-filling in this community is now well underway, some having been delayed by the recent heavy rains. At the lower ground farmers are finding it difficult to use the corn binder and are obliged to cut by hand. The corn crop is reported exceptionally good this season.

A business meeting of the Leeman Threshers' Cooperative was held Tuesday evening on the Meall Allen farm.

Robert Johnson of Marengo, Mich., Saturday visited his family and his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson. He was accompanied by Alfred Thomas, Leonard Anderson, Louis Conterio and George Grisvitch of Marengo, the party attending a football game at Green Bay Sunday afternoon.

British Subs Torpedo 3 Nazi Supply Ships

London—(P)—British submarines have torpedoed three German supply ships, the admiralty announced today, but the communiqué did not specify the date or place of the engagement.

It said that the submarine H-49 attacked a convoy of eight supply vessels, scoring torpedo hits on two, and that the submarine Tuna reported the destruction of a large supply ship which was screened by two destroyers.

Berlin—(P)—Nazi submarines have sunk 3,120,000 tons of merchant shipping since the start of the war, authoritative German sources asserted tonight—the eve of the fifth anniversary of the founding of the German submarine flotilla.

The state will be presented at the 1941 convention. Nominations from the convention floor will be permitted.

Raps Heil View Of Oleo Levy

Phil LaFollette Says Repeal Would Wreck State Dairy Industry

Monroe, Wis.—(P)—Adoption of Governor Heil's proposal to repeal the oleomargarine tax would wreck Wisconsin's $250,000,000 dairy industry, former Governor Philip LaFollette said last night.

LaFollette stressed problems of the dairymen in a day of campaigning in Green county on behalf of Progressive candidates in the November election.

He said Wisconsin farmers, protected by a tax barrier erected by the Progressive party, had felt safe from unfair competition of oleomargarine selling at 10 cents a pound.

"But when governor Heil toured the south last winter he made friends with Wisconsin's enemy, the cocoanut cow," LaFollette declared.

"He proposed to knock down the tax barrier against oleomargarine and let the cocoanut cow run loose in Wisconsin."

He recalled that Progressives established the Wisconsin Agricultural authority, which he said was engaged in the task of advertising and marketing Wisconsin butter and cheese "when it was wrecked by the malicious action of the Republican administration."

If returned to office, he added, "the Progressives have every intention of re-creating a state supported agency to help farmers sell their products at a fair and reasonable price."

British Ship Carries Survivors of Dutch Vessel to Baltimore

Baltimore—(P)—Twelve survivors of a dutch freighter blown up at sea with a loss of 21 lives were landed today by the British ship White Chest.

A physician at St. Joseph's hospital, where three of the men were taken, said one of the men told him the freighter was blown up by a "bomb" planted in its cargo.

The ship was the Stad Schiedam, which had sailed from Canada, presumably en route to England.

The survivors said they had been adrift on a raft for five days before the White Chest picked them up.

Man's Daily Menu in Army Costs 41 Cents

Washington—(P)—Menu memo to you prospective doughboys: The army is planning to spend 41.81 cents a day on your food.

That, buddies, represents an increase over the last fiscal year when only 40.61 cents was allotted for the three daily meal checks of regular army enlisted men.

The quartermaster general, Major General Edmund B. Gregory, explained that the rise in cuisine costs would be due to the mounting prices of food.

Paralysis Cases are On the Wane in State

Madison—(P)—The state board of health announced today that continued decrease in reports of new cases of infantile paralysis indicated the peak of this year's serious outbreak of the disease had passed.

Four new cases were reported today. They came from Brown, Dane, Monroe and Oconto counties. Five cases were reported yesterday, compared with 17 Tuesday and 16 Monday.

Board officials had predicted the cases would fall off with the arrival of cool weather.

Nominee for Attorney General Begins Drive

Stevens Point—(P)—Otto F. Christenson, Progressive nominee for attorney general, opened his campaign for election with a radio address here yesterday.

"Wisconsin is at the cross roads," Christenson said. "We have the choice of electing a Republican administration and thereby going on destroying what it has taken generations to build up, or we can go back to sensible, progressive, constructive government."

Italian Bases Shelled In Sidi Barrani Area

Alexandria, Egypt—(P)—British naval forces again have shelled Italian supply bases and troop concentrations in the Sidi Barrani area, inflicting heavy damage and leaving behind a trail of huge fires, British naval authorities announced today.

The warships were said to have moved into the waters a short distance off Sidi Barrani and scored direct hits on Italian military objectives.

Elliott Roosevelt's Soft Army Job Is No Boost for the Draft

Washington, D. C.—"Fairly and without fear or favor." That is how the president told the governors that the selective service law must be administered. Right, it must be done that way or the scheme won't work. Nobody must be allowed to put over any "clever little schemes" to get one boy out of the draft while another, with no more reason not to serve, is taken. That is unfair, it is doubly despicable, because, for every boy who escapes his proper turn or another mother's son is pushed up before his turn to serve and perhaps to die.

It is a deadly serious business. Our draft law if properly and honestly and justly administered, is the best system for service ever invented. If unfairly administered and used for politics or any other kind of "favor or favor," it can become one of the most hateful and un-American systems of oppression and injustice ever invented.

Not only must its fairness be an unimpeachable fact—the whole country must be convinced of it. It must be above suspicion. The poorest mother of the least favored son must be serene in her confidence that her son will be treated on exactly the same footing as the son of the most powerful man in the nation, or of men in all lower grades down to her own.

On the very day the president was making all this clear, his own son Elliott was commissioned and called to service as a captain in the air corps. As a flier? Oh, dear, no. A young man has to work and train for that. Elliott goes in as what airmen call derisively a kee-wee—a bird without wings.

He didn't apply to any recruiting office. The head of the army air corps, General Arnold, himself, assigned him from the "specialists reserve" to a job in "procurement," which means something to do with buying supplies. When asked what kind of a specialist Elliott claimed to be, the officials said that was "confidential." As a captain, he will draw $200 a month, plus allowances that may be as high as $116.00 a month.

At his age of 30, he would have been in the selective draft pool. There he would have been subject to serve, as Woodrow Wilson said, "Not in that place that will most pleasure him but where it shall, best serve the common good to call him." He might have served in some "specialty"—but that would have been decided not by him but by his qualifications in fair competition with all other boys—as also would the place and condition of his service. His compensation would have been $30 and not $200 a month. He would have been honored by having to wear the uniform and not "privilege" as is reported in the press of this new captain to wear civilian clothes.

Now He Won't Have To Register For Draft

"No matter what the sacrifices," Captain Roosevelt is quoted as saying, "it is important for all young people to join up and take part in the defense program." O. K., but could your boy "join up" in this soft fashion? "Try and do it" or "it's nice work if you can get it."

Now the president's second son won't even have to register for the draft and take his place on a footing of equality with all other young Americans of his age. Without any discernible military training, preparation or qualification, and without any known preparation for "procurement," he is made a "captain by the scratch of a pen and an officer and a gentleman by act of congress."

There might be a worse way to start off this great democratic and equalitarian crusade in decency called the draft, but I can't for the moment think what it is. It looks like hateful nepotism, favoritism and unfairness at the very head of the system.

It is so raw that I am very sure of one thing—the president either didn't know about it, or else didn't give a thought to the implications. I doubt if Elliott did either. The only real trouble with that boy is that he has no inferiority complex. Guiltless as I believe this act was at heart, it ought to be undone just as quickly as it was performed. Otherwise it will remain a stench to heaven.

Discuss Use of Land In National Defense

Fond du Lac—(P)—Land use planning in national defense was discussed today at the second session of the four-day meeting of representatives of extension services and bureaus of agricultural economics from Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

Approximately 60 agricultural technical experts attended the conference, called, according to G. E. Young, Milwaukee, to revive the land-use planning work which has been carried out in three states for the past several years. Young is the regional representative of the bureau of economics.

Young said the conference would assist in planning the best possible use of land with consideration of conservation and the rural residents of the three states.

Dr. M. L. Wilson, former under-secretary of agriculture, was scheduled to be the principal speaker at this afternoon's session.

JAGUAR

When white men first reached the New World, they did not find so many large, wild beasts as exist in Africa.

There were no elephants in either North or South America in the time of Leif Ericson or Christopher Columbus. Long, long ago, wild elephants of several kinds roamed over our continent, but the last of them seems to have died thousands of years ago. We know about them only because of the skeletons which have been found here and there.

The largest animals on our continent when men from Europe first explored it were buffaloes, Kodiak bears, grizzly bears, polar bears, moose and elk.

The animals I have named did not exist in South America. Instead of them, the southern continent had such beasts as tigers, armadillos, anteaters, llamas, and apaches—not to speak of monkeys.

A South American Jaguar

The fiercest of all South American animals was—and is—the jaguar. This big cat ranks third in size among the members of the cat family. Only the lion and the tiger are larger.

The average length of a full-grown jaguar is about six and a half feet. Now and then, however, a jaguar from seven to eight feet is found. The figures I have given include the length of the tail.

A jaguar is spotted, and in this way is like an African leopard. The spots are black on a brown or yellowish coat.

Perching on the limb of a tree, the jaguar waits to pounce on its prey. It attacks and kills deer, tapirs and monkeys. Its food also includes birds, turtles and fish.

Jaguars do not often attack people, but cases are on record where they have done so. It is believed they are afraid to attack men unless driven by great hunger.

The small piglike animals called peccaries are victims of jaguars, but the big cats are careful about the way they attack a herd. Peccaries stand together in face of danger, and could kill even a jaguar if it did not get out of the way in a hurry.

When hunting peccaries, a jaguar leaps into a herd and seizes one of them in its mouth. Then it climbs a tree as fast as possible, and waits there until the rest of the peccaries go away. Jaguars have been shot in California and Texas, but they are rare north of Mexico.

20 Per. Cent of State Aged Are Dependent Upon Public

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The state public welfare department, which administers laws and funds in welfare services affecting thousands of Wisconsin citizens, today offered the results of research into what has become the biggest division of the welfare program, old age assistance.

It reported these disclosures:
 Nearly 100,000 old persons have applied for old age assistance in Wisconsin during the last five years, of which 30,000 were denied aid.

Failure to meet the need qualification is the most important cause for the denial of the large number of applications.

Largest Group

The largest single group of old age assistance recipients today are those in the group receiving from $10 to $19 a month.

About 35 per cent of the population over 65 is financially independent, about 45 per cent are supported by relatives, and 20 per cent are dependent upon the public for support.

Only 83 persons in Wisconsin have been granted the $40 maximum pension allowed by the 1939 session of the legislature. There are 343 pensions in effect today paying under $10 a month.

About one third of the recipients of old age assistance have small incomes which supply a part of their needs, either in the form of wages, savings or contributions from relatives. Others are provided living quarters by relatives.

Use Private Funds First

About one fifth of the aged now on the pension rolls were receiving some other form of public assistance, usually general relief, before the advent of the pension system.

The fact that many pensioners do not apply for aid for several years after reaching the age of 65 indicates that they do not apply until their private means have been exhausted.

The median age at the time of discontinuance, generally on account of death, is 75 in Wisconsin. There are more men than women on the old age pension rolls, 54.5 per cent against 45.5 per cent.

The proportion of married individuals is about the same as in the general population of the same age groupings.

In contrast to the general public assistance caseloads, the old age assistance lists are balanced quite evenly between rural and urban districts.

Wednesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The city council, at a recent meeting, appointed Rev. Milton Feldt as a member of the library board. Other members of the board are: E. T. Hawkins, president; James Vietch, vice president; Dorothea Holz, secretary; Frank Longie, treasurer; Mrs. James Sherman and Mrs. William Beck.

"The first time I baked with Pillsbury's Best, my husband noticed the difference" says Mrs. Frank Graft of Chicago, Illinois

"... when I was first married, I wasn't satisfied with the baking I was doing. So I tried Pillsbury's Best in some simple cupcakes... the kind of food where you can really tell how a flour acts. Those cupcakes came out fine... so light and delicate. My husband noticed the difference, and said to keep on using Pillsbury's Best. I have, and I use it for everything..."

GUARANTEED
 For everything you bake; every time you bake Pillsbury's Best Flour is made from a "balanced" blend of wheat and has our money-back guarantee to give you perfect satisfaction in everything you bake... bread, cakes, biscuits, pastry... every time you use it.

Pillsbury's BEST XXXX Flour
 "Balanced" for Bread-Cake-Biscuits

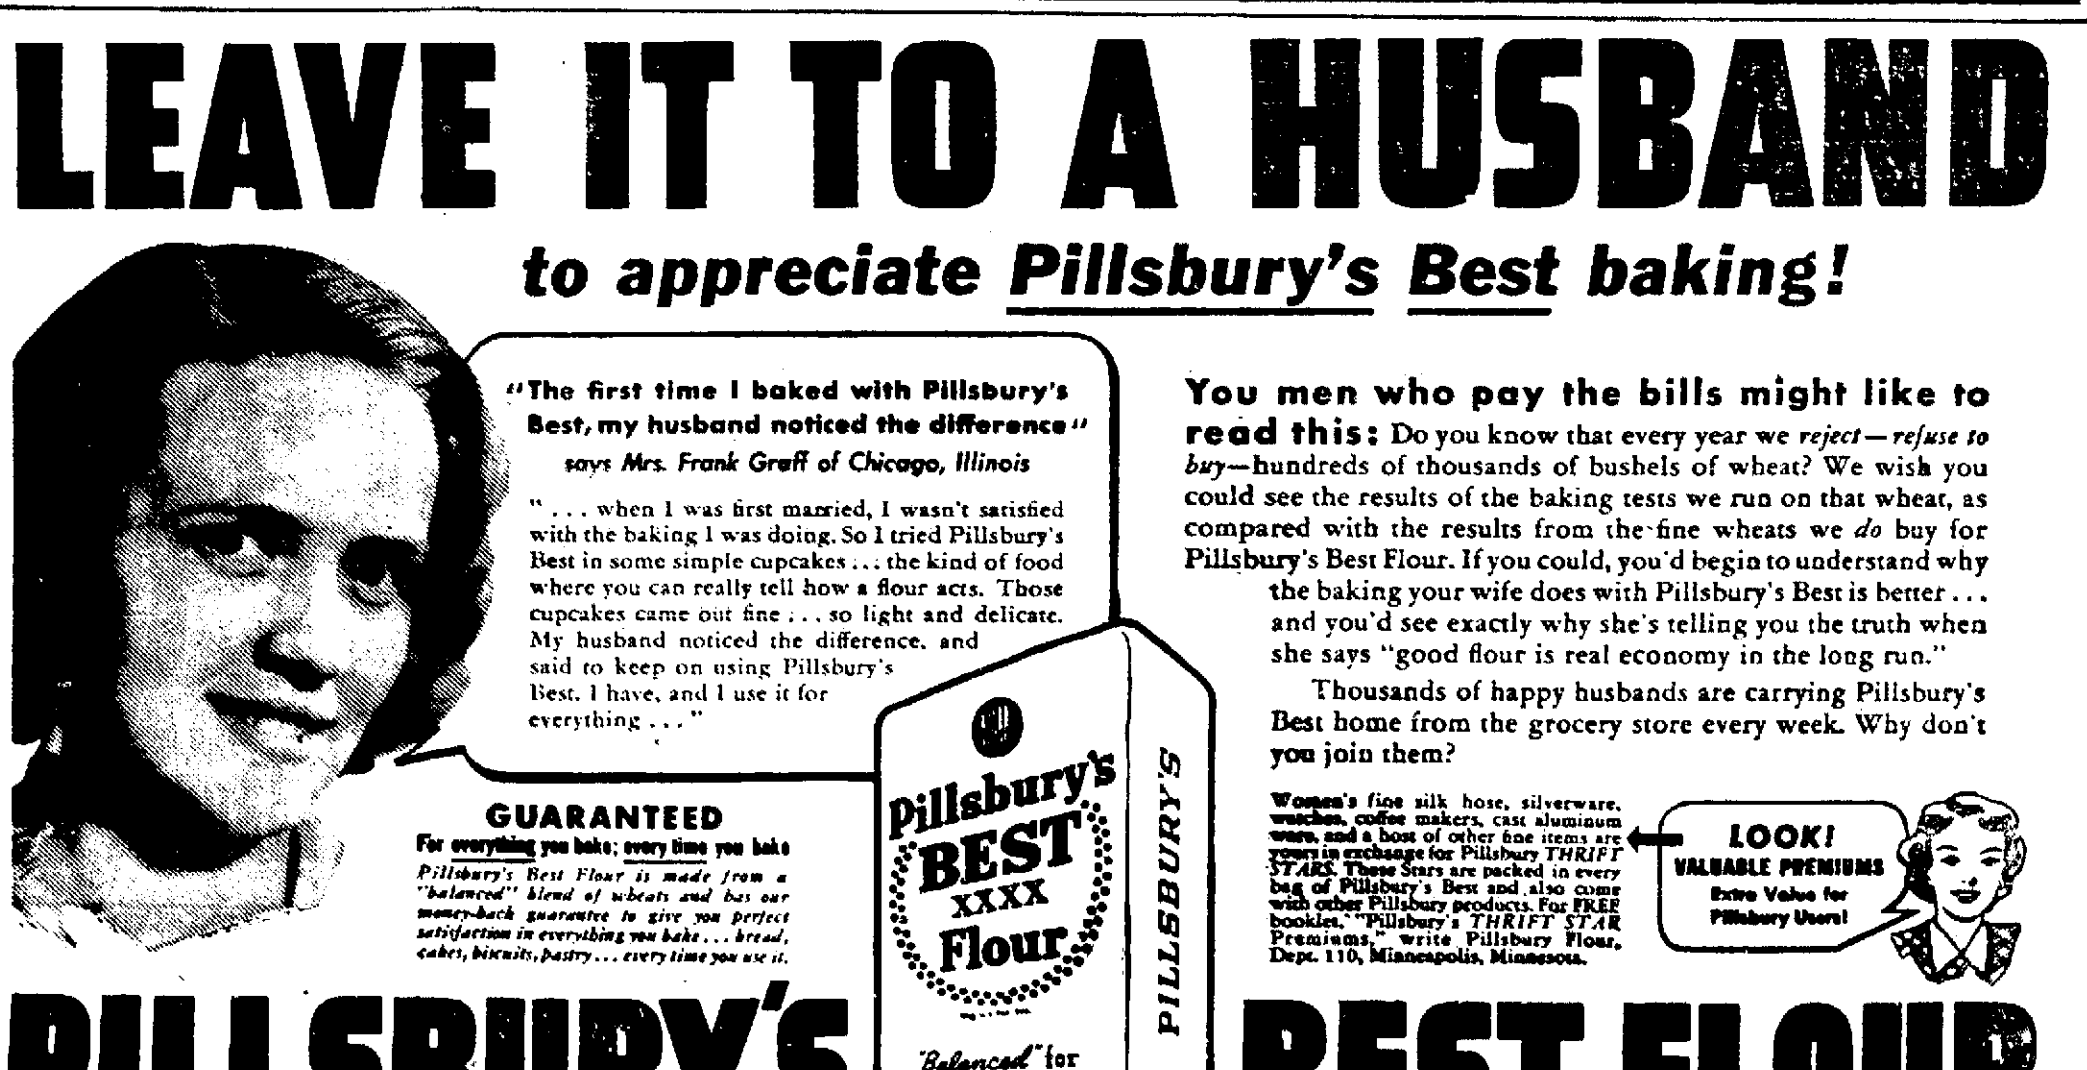

You men who pay the bills might like to read this: Do you know that every year we reject—refuse to buy—hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat? We wish you could see the results of the baking tests we run on that wheat, as compared with the results from the fine wheats we do buy for Pillsbury's Best Flour. If you could, you'd begin to understand why the baking your wife does with Pillsbury's Best is better... and you'd see exactly why she's telling you the truth when she says "good flour is real economy in the long run."

Thousands of happy husbands are carrying Pillsbury's Best home from the grocery store every week. Why don't you join them?

Women's fine silk hose, silverware, watches, coffee makers, cast aluminum ware, and a host of other fine items are yours in exchange for Pillsbury's THIRTY STAR Flour. These stars are packed in every bag of Pillsbury's Best and also come with other Pillsbury products. For FREE booklets, "Pillsbury's THIRTY STAR Flour," write Pillsbury Flour, Dept. 110, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

FOLKS, TRY MY NEW WAY TO MAKE CHEESE CAKE
YOU'LL LOVE IT...SAYS AUNT JENNY

CHEESE CAKE
1 pound cream cheese
3 tablespoons flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
4 egg yolks, well beaten
1 cup sugar
1 cup light cream

1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites
1 1/2 tablespoons Spry
2 tablespoons sugar
2 cups zwieback, rolled fine (1 package)

Cream cheese until smooth. Add flour and salt and blend well. Beat egg yolks well. Add sugar gradually and mix well. Add cream and blend, then add to cheese mixture gradually, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla and blend well. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into mixture until well blended.

Cream Spry and sugar together. Add crumbs and blend well. Line and press crumbs into 9 1/4-inch spring mold greased with Spry. (Spry's so pure and bland it lets you get the full flavor of the delicate cheese filling.) Pour batter over crumbs. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) 1 1/2 hours, or until firm in center.

Relocation of Highway 49 Is Completed in Waupaca County

Waupaca — Highway 49 in Waupaca, has been relocated. A 276-foot bridge spans the Soo Line railroad tracks and another bridge 134 feet long crosses the Waupaca river on the relocation. The highway was opened to the public Tuesday and on Wednesday work of tearing down the old structure which has been the scene of so many fatalities, was begun. By Thursday night the removal will be complete and traffic to Scandinavia will follow but one route.

For years the old wooden bridge on Elm street has been considered unsafe by highway safety engineers and a federal appropriation of funds was hoped for under the railroad safety crossing program.

From the time Waupaca entered the concrete road building program which was financed by a bond issue of $1,200,000, a decade or more ago, Senator F. R. Fisher contacted the highway commission in the interest of road improvement in Waupaca county. When the concrete highway was laid east of Waupaca and the grade crossing at Axtell's was undertaken, there was much criticism because of the cost. When completed it was learned that the expense to the county was little if any greater than it would have been had the road been built on the track level, due to the fact that the Soo Line and the state fund for grade elimination bore the lion's share of the improvement.

Schedule Hearing

Roosevelt street from Morrison street to Drew street and from Morrison to Oneida street will be conducted by the board of public works at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 8, in city hall. The work has been ordered by the city council.

DIM LIGHTS FOR SAFETY

The Dominican Republic expects to produce 500,000 tons of sugar this year.

CO-PRESIDENTS OF CLUB—The Appleton High school Latin club last week elected Anthony Groh and Merrie Ebert co-presidents for the new term. Groh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Groh, 825 W. Third street, and Miss Ebert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ebert, 1210 N. Badger avenue.

Lower production by native farmers has increased food prices in Panama.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

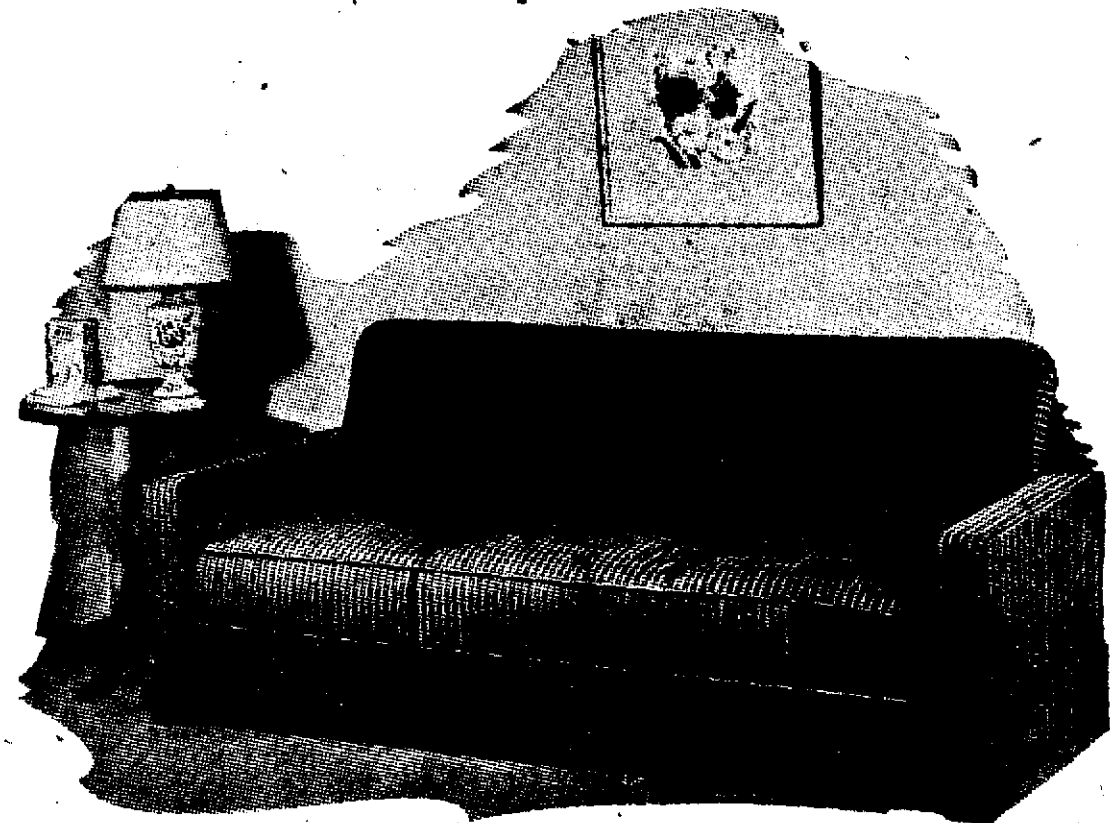

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

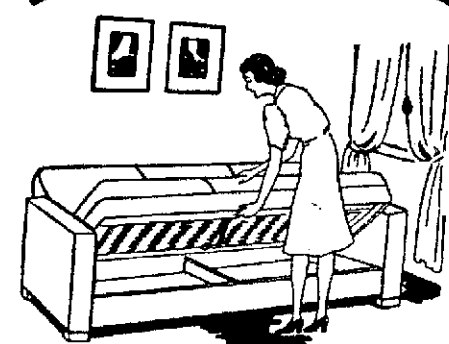

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
